Subject: We've got a problem

Friend,

We've got a problem.

Washington has a spending addiction. I know that's not anything new to you, but here's the problem:
Nothing is being done about it.

Ever since I was first elected, I started calling for drastic budget cuts that would get our spending problem under control, and help return us to a fiscally responsible economic policy. Unfortunately, the Democrats in Washington are doing everything they can to fight back. Their big-spending agenda is the reason our national debt keeps growing, and they refuse to do anything about it.

It's time to demand action. It's time to demand that we get serious about the state of our economy.
Will you help me send them a message?
