Are Stormy Days Ahead for Your Agency's Network?

Dear Nikki,

The 2016 Hurricane Season started 5 months early and isn't expected to end until late November. . .

That means, if you rely solely on a single pipe terrestrial network, all this time your agency has been at an even greater risk for being knocked offline in the event of a storm.

When disaster strikes, you can rely on Hughes Emergency Response Solutions – powered by advanced broadband satellite technology – to get back online in fractions of a second! A Hughes solution provides true path diversity, resiliency and the highest network availability.

With Hughes, you won't have to worry about getting caught without working phones, Internet access, or a way to serve the public's needs.

Ready to protect your agency from the stormy days ahead?

Call 1-844-519-2520 for a consult today!
