I did also receive word that they may be able to use the vans but that your agency will be responsible for anything in case something should happen.

As per State Fleet Management, they have no problem with vehicles being used for evacuation purposes, but the following applies:

- > 1. Lessee (and/or sub-lessee) should use authorized personnel (i.e. employees of the Lessee or Sub-lessee) to operate the state-owned leased vehicles for evacuation purposes.
- > 2. If authorized personnel are unavailable due to the emergency, Lessee (and sub-lessee) acknowledges and maintains responsibility for the vehicles, regardless of the driver(s).
- > 3. If there is anything that should happen to the vehicle(s), the lessee (and sub-lessee) will be held responsible by all terms of the lease agreement.

We have approached regarding using our leased vehicles for evacuation and transporting people in the event that Hurricane Irma is predicted to hit this area. Is that possible? It will not be our staff using the vehicles but county emergency personnel and volunteers.
