Road Closure Update

SCDOT Continues to Make Progress on Flood Related Closures

Despite a very active hurricane season, SCDOT continues to make progress on closures resulting from the October 2015 flood. The twenty-seven remaining SCDOT road closures require full bridge replacement or are related to dam failures.

In addition, SCDOT continues to work on the three Bluff Road bridge replacements in Richland County. These structures were closed following a latent damage inspection in Spring of 2016.

Construction on Bluff Road has progressed on schedule. The bridge deck for the structure over Dry Branch Creek was poured on October 12, and the remaining two structures are close behind.

All three bridges are projected to be open by December 31, 2016.

Devils Backbone Road Opens in October

The Devils Backbone Road (S-59) closure in Lexington County opened on October 14.

The dam at this location failed following the October 2015 flood.

SCDOT worked with property owners and elected officials to find a solution and the owner elected to abandon the dam structure.

Following this decision, SCDOT worked quickly to perform necessary assessments and prepare emergency plans which include the installation of a 6' x 6' double barrel culvert.

The contract was awarded in July to Cherokee, Inc.
