How low will you go? Amazing what people will do.

Thanks for the update.

On the morning of July 1, I was notified by Andrea Smith that the power to the above named center in Greenville was out due to a transformer blowing in the area. The participants were being sent home because they did not know when the power would come back on. I approved for Senior Action staff to pack up the lunches and give them to the participants to take home with them due to this being an emergency situation.

On the news last night, it was reported that a copper thief was the cause of the power outage. As yet, the suspect has not been apprehended.
