No Tears In Heaven was inspired by a young boy, Luke Gribick, a traumatic brain injury survivor. Children's Hospital and The Brain Injury Association of South Carolina have served an important role in Luke's recovery; presented in video on No Tears In Heaven.

Read about Luke's visit with the Governor of South Carolina, an honorable and joyful person who has a sincere desire to serve others: Nikki Haley. A link to the Governor's book, "Can't Is Not an Option" - a story of courage, compassion and conviction, is also provided at the dedicated link: "Luke Visits Governor Haley."

No Tears In Heaven also includes 53 other stories that "God knows and cares for every challenge, circumstance or crisis a family or individual may encounter."

Dear Governor Haley,

Time has a way in passing too quickly but memories are always close to the heart in remembering a wonderful moment in time. Two years ago on March 11, 2014 Luke had the opportunity in meeting you to share his story of God's grace and mercy in circumstances beyond understanding but not without hope.

In celebration of the anniversary date, March 11, 2014, I thought you might enjoy the book: "7 Women and the Secret of Their Greatness"-written by Eric Metaxas.

Metaxas is the same author who wrote "Bonhoeffer: Pastor, Martyr, Prophet, and Spy."

Hopefully the enclosed book "7 Women and the Secret of Their Greatness"-written by Metaxas will be refreshing and encouraging, inspirational stories to take the rough edges off the day.

Luke wanted you to know he is playing chimes on our latest recording "Peace Be Still." To see the video presentation of "Peace Be Still" visit our website and click the "Praise Work Creations" tab.

Keeping your family in prayer, knowing the verse you have selected, Philippians 4:13, for guidance will bring peace and comfort in all circumstances.

Sincerely

Cliff Gribick
