Hey,

This proctoring issue is rearing its ugly head again. It came up at a meeting yesterday with the Regional Education Coordinators. Some of the RECs were told that the partners would have to cover the cost of proctoring for tests done by the local technical college. Meka was at the meeting with me and she wanted to know what the charge would be to see if Dept. of Ed could do something.

Didn't you have all the college's submit an estimate of what their proctoring costs would be? Can you share with me? We need to figure out how to nip this in the bud and if there are any funding sources we can tap into. One of the college's just told me that they aren't going to offer the no-costs tests because of the proctoring issue.

The SC Works Centers are absorbing their costs and David is giving his Adult Ed centers funds in addition to what they're putting into SCWRC to cover their costs.
