I think that I understand the various concerns and policies, but I think we're over-complicating this. I know that not every LEA is close to a EPA/DHEC-approved incineration facility. But, is my presumption correct that every LEA in SC has regular contact with SLED such that transporting takeback material to Columbia should be relatively easy?

I don't want ultimate disposal to interfere with the goal, and I don't want to oversimplify the process, but I'm not sure why this is a big hurdle. What am I missing?

Good morning!

These are the documents from Sgt Jeff Ward GCSO who has been working on the Opioid Issue and over the Narcan trainings for LE/first responders. He is the contact for GCSO about the drop boxes and discovered the issues with dispensing and using the portable incinerators. He spoke with Joe Schenkar (spelling ?) as well as DHEC and they are looking into having a conference call to discuss concerns and form a subcommittee of those stakeholders it would affect. You'd have to contact him for more details.

Sincerely,

Michelle Greco

Hi Jeff,

Could you please send me the DHEC info. and other documents you referred to for the disposal of the contents in the drop boxes as well as those stats /slides you had on Narcan admin/zip codes etc.

Thanks,
Michelle Greco
