allisonbright2006 I know North Carolina is closing there parks. Is South Carolina doing the same? We camp all year long. At least once a month.

stayfunny_stephanie It looks like SC closed all state parks to any new camping reservations through May 7. We also camp once a month and were planning to camp near my parents (we live in NC) so they could come to our campsite and visit outdoors without being too close. All of this is crazy. We are super bummed about SC parks closing to new reservations but understand they felt that was the right thing to do for their employees and patrons.
