

From: GOVERNING Daily <newsletters@governing.com>
To: Lt. Governor's OfficeLtGov@scstatehouse.gov
Date: 8/3/2018 9:13:30 AM
Subject: Building Homes in Flood Zones: Why Does This Bad Idea Keep Happening?

Subscribe to Governing Magazine & Newsletters
Follow us on Facebook / Twitter / LinkedIn / Instagram

Today's newsletter presented by Florida State University

FEATURED STORY FOR AUGUST 3, 2018

Building Homes in Flood Zones: Why Does This Bad Idea Keep Happening?

As cities try to manage their growth, the population of people living in flood-prone areas is actually rising faster than elsewhere. PLUS:

- 17 Feet of Water in 17 Minutes: Dam Failure Fears Prompt Evacuations in Virginia City

LATEST GOVERNING NEWS & COMMENTARY

WEEK IN FINANCE

Affordable Housing Shortage? Massachusetts Might Tax Airbnb to Pay for It.

The state is considering a policy that goes further than most places that tax short-term rental companies.

Campus Reimagined: Where Passion Meets Knowledge

The Reimagined Campus Ecosystem, built on a data rich, technology centric platform, will instantly respond to the digitally savvy student, helping them to acquire the knowledge they need to fulfill their uniquely personal passion.

LATEST WEB HEADLINES

HEALTH & HUMAN SERVICES

- Planned Parenthood Gets Federal Grants -- for Now

INFRASTRUCTURE & ENVIRONMENT

- After Trump Unveils New Fuel Efficiency Rules, Nearly Half the States Vow to Sue

POLITICS

- Takeaways From Tennessee's Primary
- Kneeling During the Pledge Puts Connecticut Official in Hot Water

PUBLIC JUSTICE & SAFETY

- Cities and States Resist — and Assist — Immigration Crackdown in New Ways
- Despite Pope's Objection, Nebraska's Catholic Governor Vows to Continue Executions
- Ohio Toughens Prison Sentence for Fentanyl Dealers

NEWS IN NUMBERS

81

Endorsements that former President Barack Obama made on Wednesday for candidates in races up and down the ballot.

MORE

WHO SAID THAT?

"I have not changed but the Republican Party most certainly has. ... If you don't stand for something, then you stand for nothing ... and now I stand with the Democrats."

MORE

Unsubscribe | Opt out of all e.Republic email | Privacy Statement

© 2018 e.Republic. All rights reserved. 100 Blue Ravine Road, Folsom, CA 95630. Phone: 916-932-1300