In this email, you'll find the latest on our construction progress and an interview with Arthrex Human Resources discussing jobs and hiring.

Arthrex Manufacturing Inc. South Carolina Project on Track for Spring 2019 Opening

The beautiful South Carolina summer has cooperated nicely as construction moves ahead on the Arthrex Manufacturing Inc. South Carolina (AMISC) facility. Crews achieved a milestone on July 27, when the foundation began to be poured after an underground rough-in of plumbing and electrical. Arthrex Vice President of Manufacturing Andy Owen said the timetable for the building construction remains on track.

Meanwhile, Arthrex officials met with residents and business owners who have property surrounding the Sandy Springs site to answer questions and concerns late last month. Andy said the meeting, which had about 30 attendees, went very well.

“We are good neighbors, and we thought it was important we answer their questions,” he said. “I think when people left, they were very happy. One of our neighbors asked where we were when they were looking for a career years ago”

Attendees were reassured about pollution concerns and Arthrex explained about its investment in dark-sky technology to reduce light pollution from the facility. Arthrex has plans for additional meetings to detail progress on the facility.

In Focus: Jobs & Hiring at AMISC

Limited hiring has begun for our South Carolina positions. To see available jobs, go to our website. The majority of jobs will be posted in November/December of this year and next spring.

Mike Boose, Arthrex’s director of human resources and organizational development, has been getting many questions about the types of jobs we will have at Arthrex Manufacturing Inc. South Carolina. Mike shares some of the benefits of working at Arthrex, as well as qualities we look for in employees.

What makes Arthrex a great place to work?

Mike: It all starts with President and Founder Reinhold Schmieding and his expectation that we treat people right. We’re professional, we have a comprehensive benefits package that includes things like free lunch. The care and loyalty we display to our employees is recouped by the care and loyalty they show our business.
