MERCED COUNTY PROBATION LAUNCHES NEW ONLINE RESOURCE – THE NETWORK OF CARE

“At times, community members are at a loss of what resources are available in times of need,” said Chief Probation Officer Jeff Kettering. “This site will allow them to search for specific or general services in order to meet their needs. The Merced County Probation Department has worked diligently with Trilogy to include as many community resources in their network of care website as possible.”

The Network of Care allows probation clients to sign up and access available resources in the community to help them assimilate back into society and receive proper support through health and social-services programs. While the service is available to anyone in the community, it’s designed specifically for probation clients.
