Dear Governor:

Enclosed please find a copy of my latest letter to Senator Tom Davis. I would like to hear from you on your opinion of how the Department of Revenue demands duplicate filings. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Dear Senator Davis:

An op-ed appeared in yesterday's Wall Street Journal, "Ending America's Slow-Growth Tailspin" by John H. Cochrane. The gist of the op-ed was arcane regulations at all levels of government are hurting businesses and causing GDP and per capita income to stagnate.

The South Carolina Department of Revenue is certainly guilty as evidenced by our latest go round with an unwarranted tax lien. Enclosed is a copy of my letter to Ms. Jean Funches trying to get the tax lien vacated.

I have two questions about the regulations that the Department of Revenue are enforcing:

Has the legislature passed bills requiring the Department of Revenue receive two changes of address filings, one for income taxes and one for withholding? The same goes for an annual withholding filing after the Department has accepted a final filing?

If these are just Department rules, what is the role of our elected officials in monitoring the rules being enforced and supervising/getting rid of the rules that are just "busy" work, but provide no new information and generate no new revenue, but instead cost money to enforce...file liens that are unwarranted, just duplication of effort? Thank you.

Sincerely,

Charles A. Rey

Dear Ms. Funches:

Per our recent telephone conversation, you advised me that Pops Direct, Inc. filed a "final" withholding tax form covering the Q1, 2012 period. I have also been advised that we needed to file a Q4/Annual Reconciliation also.

My Thorndike Dictionary defines final as follows: "at the end; with no more after it; coming last". I'm sorry to say that it appears the South Carolina Department of Revenue has a different definition of final. Enclosed is the second "final" return.

Please advise in writing at the address above that the lien filed by the Department of Revenue on 8-19-13 at our previous address, in Beaufort County, has been lifted and all parties that it has been sent to have been notified. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Charles A. Rey
