Hi Folks,

It's time to GET EXCITED!
about the upcoming special event at the RiverDogs stadium
this Saturday, June 11!

The second event in the annual issues management process aimed at enhancing the quality of community life in South Carolina, will be held at Joseph P. Riley, Jr. Park (Charleston) on June 11th, 2016, will use a unique form of engagement for advancing the process of examining both the challenges and strengths of being a diverse society.

Participants, family and guests are also invited to attend the evening's baseball game between the Charleston RiverDogs and the Asheville Tourists, as well as a pre-game social function, hosted by the College of Charleston, SCHAC, Denny's, the Charleston RiverDogs and others. Activities will be incorporated throughout the game that acknowledge the diversity of our society and celebrate the life of Larry Doby.
