

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Timeline posts

Record ID: 20170516South-Carolina-State-ParksTimeline-posts52748_10155305431618166

South Carolina State Parks

at 12:00:00 on 5/16/2017 UTC · 🌐

Vexillology is the study of flags. The flag pictured here, flying from the stern of the ketch Adventure at Charles Towne Landing, is called an ensign. Historically, ships flew ensigns to denote their nationality and function. The Adventure's ensign identifies it as an English merchant vessel. Come climb aboard the Adventure any day of the week: www.southcarolinaparks.com/ctl

Jan Strohecker For some strange reason, I keep hearing Dr. Sheldon Cooper's voice when I read this post. Such fun with flags!

at 12:04:27 on 5/16/2017 UTC

Cindy Ondek Maloney With Dr. Amy Farrah Fowler, of course Bwahahaaaa!!! GREAT post!!

at 13:44:16 on 5/16/2017 UTC

Paula Postoloff We were on that ketch a few weeks ago and learned so much! Charles Towne Landing was #17 on our ongoing quest to tour all 47 state parks, and it is definitely on our list of must-returns!

at 14:32:15 on 5/16/2017 UTC

Brandon Branham

at 14:35:15 on 5/16/2017 UTC

Katherine Sawyer Bailey Sheldon Cooper Fun with Flags!

at 1:48:58 on 5/17/2017 UTC

Sharen McRae Bramlette Laura McRae-Mitchell maybe when Sawyer is older?

at 12:32:55 on 5/17/2017 UTC

Laura McRae-Mitchell Absolutely

at 17:33:42 on 5/17/2017 UTC

Renee Shelley Simmons We were there just yesterday! It was my 3rd visit in 10 months. The Citadel is easily seen in the distance when standing on board. The gentleman sailor who shares the information about The Adventure is very knowledgeable.

at 21:20:17 on 5/17/2017 UTC