Hi Debbie,

My name is Marti Phillips and I am the Director for SCDCA's new Identity Theft Unit. I am forwarding you the below information about an ID Theft webinar offered next week by the FTC. You and/or your constituents might find this particular webinar beneficial, as it aimed at providing resources to individuals who are blind or visually impaired. Please forward to anyone you think may benefit or be interested. If you have any questions, please let me know.

Regards,

Marti

Talking Through Identity Theft: A Program for the Blind and Visually Impaired

Steve Toporoff

Attorney, Division of Privacy and Identity Protection, FTC

On Wednesday, July 31, 2013 from 2-3 p.m., the Federal Trade Commission will present a webinar for people who are blind or visually impaired. In "Talking Through Identity Theft," we will discuss the causes of identity theft and how to remedy the crime – focusing on financial, medical, government benefits, and child identity theft. What makes this webinar unique, though, is that we will talk through how people who are blind or visually impaired can get access to educational resources on identity theft. We'll map out the consumer education resources on the FTC's website, as well as how to file a complaint. We'll also talk about our audio files, and how to find them online.
