Seanna,

The 3.8 million figure represents the number of adults.

I need to make sure I'm clear on something, to ensure I use correct numbers.

I've been reporting, as I'm sure you're aware, that the filings of 3.8 million individuals and 700,000 businesses were hacked. I've noticed that The State is using the number 6.4 million, combining the 3.8 million with 1.9 dependents and 700,000.

My question is – does 3.8 million represent every adult whose Social Security number was taken, or the tax returns of 3.8 million distinct filers? If it's the latter, then the number could be bigger when including spouses in cases of people filing jointly.

Jeff, just to follow up with you. Thanks.

Can you list for me all the cyber security measures South Carolina is now putting into place in state agencies? That's an important part of this tax fraud story, what security measures South Carolina is putting into place and what measures other states have put into place.

The governor mentioned the state is in the process of encrypting the Social Security numbers it holds. She also mentioned that there are personnel in place to monitor the computers (in all state agencies?) 24-7 and shut a computer down if it is pinged. I'm not sure what that means but I didn't want to take up her time to explain it. Who are those monitors? Is this through Mandiant or another company? She mentioned that all the agency computers are now tied to the same system?, is that correct? She also mentioned a cyber plan. I guess that is a cyber security plan. What does that mean?

I believe I saw a press conference where she mentioned the name of a product or company the state was hiring to install security measures.

Thanks!
Harriet

Notifications to Affected Taxpayers –

• SCDOR will begin the process of individually notifying taxpayers who were affected by the security breach at SCDOR the week of December 10th. Notifications will be sent on a staggered basis and will be completed by December 31, 2012.

• Anyone who was affected by the SCDOR security breach will receive a notification explaining that information on the affected filer's tax return was exposed in the breach, including bank account information.

- Notifications must be sent to out-of-state South Carolina tax filers whose information was exposed. Every state has laws that require notification of breaches to affected individuals. SCDOR estimates no more than 1.2 million out-of-state filers will receive a notification letter.

- Notifications will also include information about how to sign up for free credit monitoring services and provide information about other ways to avoid identity theft.

- Notifications will be made by email or U.S. Mail.

o    If a tax filer has enrolled in Experian's ProtectMyID plan and provided an email address, Experian will send the SCDOR notification to the enrollee by email. (Approximately 800,000 affected taxpayers will receive notification by email.)

o    SCDOR will notify all other affected tax filers by U.S. Mail.

- The cost of notifying all affected individuals is approximately $1.2 million (of which approximately $950,000 is for postage - .37 cents/approximately 1.2 out-of-state letters; .27 cents/1.8 million in-state letters). [Note: this cost may decrease if more email addresses are received by Experian and if duplications are found in the SCDOR database]. The cost for sending approximately 800,000 letters to SC residents by e-mail is $2,700.00.

- To select a vendor, SCDOR used an emergency procurement process to ensure that notifications to affected individuals are provided as expeditiously as possible. SCDOR reviewed several vendors' proposals and selected an experienced vendor with the lowest cost and fast completion date – SourceLink Carolina, LLC.

- SourceLink Carolina, LLC is located in Greenville, SC and has 130 employees. The company will provide the printing services and will use components (paper and envelopes) produced by other South Carolina companies. SourceLink is headquartered in Illinois with several facilities in other states, including this one in South Carolina.

As for the notices, that $1.3 million that's part of the loan for direct mail covers what exactly (in-state, out-of-state, or some hybrid)? When do they go out? What company got that contract? I'm guessing that $1.3 million won't cover the whole cost of notices, or does it?

Importance: High

Rob,

My name is Liz Gengl and I work with Judy Hackett, Chief Marketing Officer, and Jeff Stibel, Chairman and CEO, at Dun & Bradstreet Credibility. I head up the Marketing Communications group. As you may know, Jeff and the Governor had a great conversation last week and we continue to be very passionate about helping the businesses of South Carolina with Dun & Bradstreet Credibility's CreditAlert™ product free of charge.

Working with the Governor's office on offering CreditAlert to all of the businesses in your state and seeing how popular this product was really convinced us that there was a need for a free, simple alert product that we could make available to businesses nationwide. Please note that this is not the same product that we are offering the businesses of South Carolina which is a more robust product valued at $199.00 a year and that we intend to continue our offering to the businesses in your state exactly as planned.

I have attached a press release that we would like to service next Tuesday nationwide to announce our new free CreditSignal™ product. Because our work with your office was so integral in our decision to create and launch this product, we wanted to include a quote from Governor Haley (suggested language included for your edits/approval) about why businesses need to be mindful and proactive about their business credit reports.

Please don't hesitate to call me if you have any questions or concerns. I look forward to hearing back from you.

Thank you.

Best,

Liz

Experian credit monitoring enrollment deadline extended Taxpayers now have until March 31, 2013 to sign up for protection and unlim= ited fraud resolution

COLUMBIA, S.C. - South Carolina taxpayers affected by the information secur= ity data breach at the South Carolina Department of Revenue now have until = March 31, 2013, to sign up for a year of free credit monitoring and unlimit= ed fraud resolution provided by Experian. The deadline to sign up for monit= oring and fraud resolution had been January 31, 2013.

Governor Nikki Haley reiterated that anyone who has filed a South Carolina = tax return since 1998 should take the following steps:
-    Call 1-866-578-5422 to enroll in a consumer protection service. (The =
call center is open 9:00 AM - 9:00 PM EST on Monday through Friday and 11:0=
0 AM - 8:00 PM EST on Saturday and Sunday.)

- For any South Carolina taxpayer who wishes to bypass the telephone o= ption, there currently is an online service available at http://www.protect= myid.com/scdor. Enter the code SCDOR123 when prompted.

Experian's ProtectMyID(tm) Alert is designed to detect, protect and resolve= potential identity theft, and includes daily monitoring of all three credi= t bureaus. The alerts and daily monitoring services are provided for one ye= ar, and consumers will continue to have access to fraud resolution agents a= nd services beyond the first year. Complimentary 12-month ProtectMyID memb= erships available to South Carolina taxpayers affected by the DOR informati= on security breach include:

- Credit Report: A free copy of your Experian credit report.

- Daily 3 Bureau Credit Monitoring: Alerts you of suspicious activity in= cluding new inquiries, newly opened accounts, delinquencies, or medical col= lections found on your Experian, Equifax(r) and TransUnion(r) credit report= s.

- Identity Theft Resolution: If you have been a victim of identity thef= t, you will be assigned a dedicated, U.S.-based Experian Identity Theft Res= olution Agent who will walk you through the fraud resolution process, from = start to finish.

- ExtendCARE: Full access to the same personalized assistance from a hi= ghly-trained Fraud Resolution Agent even after your initial ProtectMyID mem= bership expires.

- $1 Million Identity Theft Insurance: As a ProtectMyID member, you are= immediately covered by a $1 Million insurance policy that can help you cov= er certain costs including, lost wages, private investigator fees, and unau= thorized electronic fund transfers.

As of Thursday, there had been 957,575 signups for Experian's ProtectMyID p= rogram. Access to unlimited fraud resolution beyond the one year enrollment= period is included in Experian's ProtectMyID membership. Taxpayers who sig= n up for protection will also be notified - by email or letter - about how = to sign up for a "Family Secure Plan" if they claim minors as dependents.

Dun & Bradstreet Credibility Corp offers South Carolina businesses that hav= e filed a tax return since 1998 a CreditAlert product that will alert custo= mers to changes taking place in their business credit file. Even something = as simple as a change to a business address or a company officer change wou= ld set off an alert to the business owner. The cost will be waived for busi= ness filing tax returns since 1998. Business owners can visit http://www.da= ndb.com/sc/ or they can call customer service toll free at this dedicated p= hone number 1-800-279-9881.

Experian offers those impacted South Carolina businesses Business Credit Ad= vantageSM - a self-monitoring service that allows access to a company's bus= iness credit report and score. South Carolina businesses can sign up for Bu= siness Credit AdvantageSM at http://www.smartbusinessreports.com/SouthCarol= ina.

Experian credit monitoring enrollment deadline extended Taxpayers now have until March 31, 2013 to sign up for protection and unlim= ited fraud resolution

COLUMBIA, S.C. - South Carolina taxpayers affected by the information secur= ity data breach at the South Carolina Department of Revenue now have until = March 31, 2013, to sign up for a year of free credit monitoring and unlimit= ed fraud resolution provided by Experian. The deadline to sign up for monit= oring and fraud resolution had been January 31, 2013.

Governor Nikki Haley reiterated that anyone who has filed a South Carolina = tax return since 1998 should take the following steps:
-    Call 1-866-578-5422 to enroll in a consumer protection service. (The =
call center is open 9:00 AM - 9:00 PM EST on Monday through Friday and 11:0=
0 AM - 8:00 PM EST on Saturday and Sunday.)

-    For any South Carolina taxpayer who wishes to bypass the telephone o= ption, there currently is an online service available at http://www.protect= myid.com/scdor. Enter the code SCDOR123 when prompted.

Experian's ProtectMyID(tm) Alert is designed to detect, protect and resolve= potential identity theft, and includes daily monitoring of all three credi= t bureaus. The alerts and daily monitoring services are provided for one ye= ar, and consumers will continue to have access to fraud resolution agents a= nd services beyond the first year.  Complimentary 12-month ProtectMyID memb= erships available to South Carolina taxpayers affected by the DOR informati= on security breach include:

-   Credit Report: A free copy of your Experian credit report.

-   Daily 3 Bureau Credit Monitoring: Alerts you of suspicious activity in= cluding new inquiries, newly opened accounts, delinquencies, or medical col= lections found on your Experian, Equifax(r) and TransUnion(r) credit report= s.

-   Identity Theft Resolution: If you have been a victim of identity thef= t, you will be assigned a dedicated, U.S.-based Experian Identity Theft Res= olution Agent who will walk you through the fraud resolution process, from = start to finish.

-   ExtendCARE: Full access to the same personalized assistance from a hi= ghly-trained Fraud Resolution Agent even after your initial ProtectMyID mem= bership expires.

-   $1 Million Identity Theft Insurance: As a ProtectMyID member, you are= immediately covered by a $1 Million insurance policy that can help you cov= er certain costs including, lost wages, private investigator fees, and unau= thorized electronic fund transfers.

As of Thursday, there had been 957,575 signups for Experian's ProtectMyID p= rogram. Access to unlimited fraud resolution beyond the one year enrollment= period is included in Experian's ProtectMyID membership. Taxpayers who sig= n up for protection will also be notified - by email or letter - about how = to sign up for a "Family Secure Plan" if they claim minors as dependents.

Dun & Bradstreet Credibility Corp offers South Carolina businesses that hav= e filed a tax return since 1998 a CreditAlert product that will alert custo= mers to changes taking place in their business credit file. Even something = as simple as a change to a business address or a company officer change wou= ld set off an alert to the business owner. The cost will be waived for busi= ness filing tax returns since 1998. Business owners can visit http://www.da= ndb.com/sc/ or they can call customer service toll free at this dedicated p= hone number 1-800-279-9881.

Experian offers those impacted South Carolina businesses Business Credit Ad= vantageSM - a self-monitoring service that allows access to a company's bus= iness credit report and score. South Carolina businesses can sign up for Bu= siness Credit AdvantageSM at http://www.smartbusinessreports.com/SouthCarol= ina.

Can you get me an update on when the letters might go out and what's holding them up?

Working on a hacked update for the weekend.

Thanks.

Notifications to Affected Taxpayers –

• SCDOR will begin the process of individually notifying taxpayers who were affected by the security breach at SCDOR the week of December 10th. Notifications will be sent on a staggered basis and will be completed by December 31, 2012.

• Anyone who was affected by the SCDOR security breach will receive a notification explaining that information on the affected filer's tax return was exposed in the breach, including bank account information.

• Notifications must be sent to out-of-state South Carolina tax filers whose information was exposed. Every state has laws that require notification of breaches to affected individuals. SCDOR estimates no more than 1.2 million out-of-state filers will receive a notification letter.

• Notifications will also include information about how to sign up for free credit monitoring services and provide information about other ways to avoid identity theft.

• Notifications will be made by email or U.S. Mail.

o If a tax filer has enrolled in Experian's ProtectMyID plan and provided an email address, Experian will send the SCDOR notification to the enrollee by email. (Approximately 800,000 affected taxpayers will receive notification by email.)

o SCDOR will notify all other affected tax filers by U.S. Mail.

• The cost of notifying all affected individuals is approximately $1.2 million (of which approximately $950,000 is for postage - .37 cents/approximately 1.2 out-of-state letters; .27 cents/1.8 million in-state letters). [Note: this cost may decrease if more email addresses are received by Experian and if duplications are found in the SCDOR database]. The cost for sending approximately 800,000 letters to SC residents by e-mail is $2,700.00.

•       To select a vendor, SCDOR used an emergency procurement process to ensure that notifications to affected individuals are provided as expeditiously as possible.  SCDOR reviewed several vendors' proposals and selected an experienced vendor with the lowest cost and fast completion date – SourceLink Carolina, LLC.

•       SourceLink Carolina, LLC is located in Greenville, SC and has 130 employees.  The company will provide the printing services and will use components (paper and envelopes) produced by other South Carolina companies.  SourceLink is headquartered in Illinois with several facilities in other states, including this one in South Carolina.

Experian credit monitoring enrollment deadline extended
Taxpayers now have until March 31, 2013 to sign up for protection and unlimited fraud resolution

COLUMBIA, S.C. – South Carolina taxpayers affected by the information security data breach at the South Carolina Department of Revenue now have until March 31, 2013, to sign up for a year of free credit monitoring and unlimited fraud resolution provided by Experian. The deadline to sign up for monitoring and fraud resolution had been January 31, 2013.

Governor Nikki Haley reiterated that anyone who has filed a South Carolina tax return since 1998 should take the following steps:

-    Call 1-866-578-5422 to enroll in a consumer protection service. (The call center is open 9:00 AM – 9:00 PM EST on Monday through Friday and 11:00 AM – 8:00 PM EST on Saturday and Sunday.)

-    For any South Carolina taxpayer who wishes to bypass the telephone option, there currently is an online service available at http://www.protectmyid.com/scdor. Enter the code SCDOR123 when prompted.

Experian's ProtectMyID™ Alert is designed to detect, protect and resolve potential identity theft, and includes daily monitoring of all three credit bureaus. The alerts and daily monitoring services are provided for one year, and consumers will continue to have access to fraud resolution agents and services beyond the first year.  Complimentary 12-month ProtectMyID memberships available to South Carolina taxpayers affected by the DOR information security breach include:

-    Credit Report: A free copy of your Experian credit report.

-    Daily 3 Bureau Credit Monitoring: Alerts you of suspicious activity including new inquiries, newly opened accounts, delinquencies, or medical collections found on your Experian, Equifax® and TransUnion® credit reports.

-    Identity Theft Resolution: If you have been a victim of identity theft, you will be assigned a dedicated, U.S.-based Experian Identity Theft Resolution Agent who will walk you through the fraud resolution process, from start to finish.

-    ExtendCARE: Full access to the same personalized assistance from a highly-trained Fraud Resolution Agent even after your initial ProtectMyID membership expires.

-    $1 Million Identity Theft Insurance: As a ProtectMyID member, you are immediately covered by a $1 Million insurance policy that can help you cover certain costs including, lost wages, private investigator fees, and unauthorized electronic fund transfers.

As of Thursday, there had been 957,575 signups for Experian's ProtectMyID program. Access to unlimited fraud resolution beyond the one year enrollment period is included in Experian's ProtectMyID membership. Taxpayers who sign up for protection will also be notified – by email or letter – about how to sign up for a "Family Secure Plan" if they claim minors as dependents.

Dun & Bradstreet Credibility Corp offers South Carolina businesses that have filed a tax return since 1998 a CreditAlert product that will alert customers to changes taking place in their business credit file. Even something as simple as a change to a business address or a company officer change would set off an alert to the business owner. The cost will be waived for business filing tax returns since 1998. Business owners can visit http://www.dandb.com/sc/ or they can call customer service toll free at this dedicated phone number 1-800-279-9881.

Experian offers those impacted South Carolina businesses Business Credit AdvantageSM - a self-monitoring service that allows access to a company's business credit report and score. South Carolina businesses can sign up for Business Credit AdvantageSM at http://www.smartbusinessreports.com/SouthCarolina.

What is the status of the cyber security changes the governor implemented via executive orders following the DOR hacking?

Quote from Rob Godfrey, Haley spokesman: "Each agency immediately began the process of implementing security measures outlined in executive orders. Our office takes any cyber security threat to state government - no matter how small - seriously and that's why we're going to work with the General Assembly to find long term protection for our taxpayers and long term solutions for cyber security in state government."

What does the administration believe the DEW website attack is owed to?

S.C. DEW's spokesperson, Adrienne Fairwell, can provide you with background on the website defacement.

Is Mandiant now working with DEW?

No. But S.C. DEW's spokesperson, Adrienne Fairwell, can provide you with background on the website defacement.

Also, please respond if you'd like to criticism from Rep. Bakari Sellers. Sellers said it's apparent that the administration has systemic cybersecurity problems, owing to a lack of accountability or ineptitude.

Quote from Rob Godfrey, Haley spokesman: "We wish State Rep. Sellers would see this not as another self-serving political opportunity to attack the governor but as an opportunity to work with the governor to strengthen our state."

Please detail all the amounts in the governor's executive budget for cyber security. And, where the money's for other agencies, such as the DMV, what exactly is that for?

I'm in the legislative workshop today but am still hoping to get this done at some point tonight so I can have tomorrow off.

Good afternoon, Rob.

The state Department of Revenue tweeted this earlier today: "Letters are continuing to be mailed to taxpayers affected by the breach - over 600k to SC residents and 760k nonresidents mailed thus far."

So I'm writing a story updating the situation. Where do things stand here in the new year? Numbers of people signed up for Experian/D&B? How many have reported being defrauded? Any movement on the inspector general's report? Bills filed in response to the hack that the governor supports?

Please give me a call when you get this message.

Hey Rob,

Working on putting together some information about the data breach to tonight's show and was wondering if you might be able to help out with some information.

I know the notifications have been going out but we're hearing from some viewers that in cases where some have filed joint tax returns, only one person has received a notice. Just wondering if there might be any reason for that?

Also we're hearing that after people have signed up for the protection, the company is asking for an almost $10 fee for someone to look at their credit report. This apparently comes after one previous view and happens even if someone has received an alert about activity. Some assumed this would be part of the coverage. Is there any work going on to clear the fee for SC taxpayers, or is this something they would have to pay if they want to see a report?

Hi Samantha,

I hope you are well.

I'm following up on your correspondence with Jennifer Bellamy today.

I assigned her this story, and the other reporters earlier in the week, because we still haven't received adequate information to report to our viewers. Telling us you're releasing further information next week doesn't answer our questions. People are beginning to get their tax information in order for the filing season, and they want answers as to whether their information will be secure once filed and what changes have been made to ensure that security.

I'm sure I don't need to remind you of the impact this has had in our state. So, we would appreciate an on-camera interview—today—to help to allay some of these fears.

Please let me know who will be available and what time.

I'm copying Rob Godfrey at the Governor's Office on this email, because I'd like to keep them in the loop in the event that they have someone available to give us an on-camera interview as well. Rob, if that's a possibility—hearing from the Governor would be ideal.

We appreciate your help,

SC Department of Revenue Announces Program to Securely Process Tax Returns

Columbia, SC (January 22, 2013) --- New for 2013, the SC Department of Revenue (SCDOR) has implemented a security safeguard measure to help prevent income tax fraud.

Income tax returns filed in 2013 will be processed using the new security safeguard measure to insure no fraudulent activity. If there is a questionable filing, the taxpayer will be mailed a letter and asked to provide additional information in order to complete the processing of the tax return. The letter will detail instructions for individuals to go online or call SCDOR in order to answer questions specific to the individual. Once this process has been successfully completed, the tax refund will be issued to the individual.

The goal for the program is to protect taxpayers from fraud by individuals filing tax returns in a legitimate taxpayer's name. SCDOR has implemented the program in an effort to decrease the number of fraudulent tax returns and, consequently, decrease the issuance of fraudulent tax refunds.

For more information on the program, or for assistance throughout income tax filing season, please visit www.sctax.org or call SCDOR at (803) 898-5000.

Rob,

News19 wanted to know if the Governor's office has the numbers on how much it will cost the state to send out these notification letters to residents about the SCDOR hacking breach.

How much is that going to cost to mail 3.8 million letters? How is that paid for? I know some will be notified through email.

Also, when will the letters begin going out? We heard "in the next two week" but wanted to see if you the Governor's office knew of a specific date.

As always thanks for your help.

Hi, Rob!

Is there a specific date we can give viewers on when to expect notification from the state regarding the hacking incident?

The reporter who covered the story last week said "seven days." Assuming that means seven business days, does that mean people can expect to notified that they were, indeed, affected by Friday, November 30?

Thanks,

Rob,

I would like to conduct a telephone interview with Gov. Haley about a governor's responsibility in promoting IT security. The interview would be recorded, with the audio and transcript to be posted on several of our websites, including GovInfoSecurity and InfoRiskToday, both of which I edit.

Here are links to some of our coverage of the Department of Revenue breach:

- Stolen Password Led to S.C. Tax Breach
- The Infosec Education of Nikki Haley
- IG: South Carolina Lacks IT Security Plan
- Silver Lining in South Carolina Tax Hack
- South Carolina Revenue Department Breached

Since our launch nearly four years ago, I've interviewed for our podcasts well over 100 government officials, including senators, representatives and nearly all of the White House and administration's top IT and IT security leaders; federal, state and local IT security leaders and practitioners as well as IT security thought leaders. I also have interviewed a governor and a state attorney general.

If you're unfamiliar with GovInfoSecurity, we're the leading website covering government cybersecurity, and among our advisory board members are Melissa Hathaway, a former senior cyber adviser to Presidents Obama and Bush, and Karen Evans, who served as the federal CIO under President Bush.

Please let me know of the governor's availability.

Thanks.

Eric

"Governor Haley is on the front lines of the battle to grow our economy and bring more jobs to our state, and her work is paying off: we've announced more than 29,000 jobs and record-setting investment in South Carolina since taking office, and unemployment is down. But we are not satisfied. We're going to stay focused on bringing new jobs to every part of our state."

Thanks.  I don't know why our reports said seven days.

Also, is there a comment from Gov. Haley on the Forbes article that designates South Carolina as a "death spiral" state?

Thanks,
Myra

To the reporter:

DOR is currently implementing two-factor authentication. These are requirements for federal tax information (FTI) and the individual's credentials who were utilized did not have access to FTI.

Some of the requirements that you refer to are for specific operational circumstances that do not pertain to DOR.

Based on the IRS remote access guidelines which state "Two-factor authentication is required whenever FTI (federal tax information) is being accessed from an alternate work location or if accessing FTI via the agency's web portal," it appears that DOR may have violated those guidelines.

I haven't back yet from you guys on whether the remote access guidelines were in fact in place, but the testimony today and the Mandiant report appear to make clear they weren't. If I'm wrong, I need you to let me know, and soon.

Rob,

Mr. Etter has told WIS that it will take "a few days" before a taxpayer who has submitted his/her name to the protectmyid.com web site to learn whether their tax records were misused and therefore subject to the one year free credit monitoring. Is that the case, and, if so, how long is a few days (2, 3, 5, 10)?

Has state govt. decided to do anything beyond what was announced Friday, such as adding for phone lines, more people to answer calls, or any similar means of providing quicker responses to taxpayers?

When will the state/Mandiant know where the hacker(s) got access to full tax returns that include addresses, children's names, charitable giving, tax delinquencies, etc.?

Clif,

As far as I know Director Etter isn't doing a media round today - he's currently working on making sure that everything that needs to happen to protect taxpayers is being done. He's going to be at the press conference tomorrow precisely to answer and question's y'all have. But, if there's anything you think you need to know tonight, I'll get it answered for you.

If you have any questions or concerns related to the call center that has been set up to assist taxpayers, I will make sure you are set up to talk to Experian as soon as possible.

As to the timing, there is information we believe is important to get out to the taxpayers, and 10:00 AM is the best time to make sure the press has the time y'all need to put it out by the noon news. We are, as we have been, in constant contact with the legislative leadership, we'll remain in constant contact with members, and we'll brief them at the first available opportunity tomorrow morning. It won't be long after 10, and it may be before if it works for them.

In the meantime, every South Carolinian should call the number (information below) and avail themselves of the free protections the state is offering, and they should do it sooner rather than later. Remember, as the governor said Friday, although we have been attacked, we aren't going to be victims.

Again, thanks for reaching out.

Rob

The S.C. Department of Revenue announced on October 26, 2012 that approximately 3.6 million Social Security numbers and 387,000 credit and debit card numbers have been exposed in a cyber attack.

Governor Nikki Haley, South Carolina Law Enforcement Division Chief Mark Keel, United States Secret Service Special Agent in Charge Michael Williams, South Carolina Department of Revenue Director Jim Etter and State Inspector General Patrick Maley responded to news of the cyber attack with consumer safety solutions during an afternoon press conference.

Video of the press conference is available here: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0Dax66JEzVs& Attached you will find a press kit that includes consumer safety solutions.

Anyone who has filed a South Carolina tax return since 1998 should take the following steps:

1. Call 1-866-578-5422 where you will enroll in a consumer protection service. The call center is open 9:00 AM – 9:00 PM EST on Monday through Friday and 11:00 AM – 8:00 PM EST on Saturday and Sunday.

2. Then you will determine if you wish to have an online or US Mail alert mechanism.

3. For the online service, visit http://www.protectmyid.com/scdor. For the US Mail service, you will receive notifications via the US mail.

Experian's ProtectMyID™ Alert is designed to detect, protect and resolve potential identity theft, and includes daily monitoring of all three credit bureaus. The alerts and daily monitoring services are provided for one year, and consumers will continue to have access to fraud resolution agents and services beyond the first year.

Your DOR director is doing media interviews, I'd like to talk to him this afternoon.

In addition, what are y'all doing about the conflicting times for Monday's news conference and the phone conference for legislators?

See 9.18.3 on pages 57-58 of these IRS guidelines:
http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p1075.pdf

"Two-factor authentication is required whenever FTI (federal tax information) is being accessed from an alternate work location or if accessing FTI via the agency's web portal."

Was this in place? Director Etter told senators today that the breach occurred through remote access.

Also, the guidelines state that a special (encrypted) modem and/or Virtual Private Network (VPN) for every workstation and a smart card (microprocessor) for every user are needed for remote access. Were these in place for remote access for DOR employees?

The individuals whose credentials were hacked did not have access to FTI. As a result, the two-factor authentication requirement did not apply to the affected employee and therefore the IRS requirement would not have made a difference in the results of this case.

However, at the time of the breach, DOR was not in compliance as it relates to FTI but we are in the process of implementing the two-factor authentication.
