DAILY WASHINGTON NEWS

Trump begins first week in office with outreach

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Donald Trump is set to meet with congressional leaders from both parties to discuss his agenda, as he enters his first official week in the White House and works to begin delivering on his ambitious campaign promises.

Trump staff, properties face terror risk with presidency

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates (AP) — Businesses around the world bearing U.S. President Donald Trump's name face an increased risk now that he is in the White House, security experts warn, especially as several are in areas previously hit by violence.

Rubio faces moment of truth on secretary of state vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — All eyes are on Sen. Marco Rubio of Florida as a Senate committee is poised to vote on whether to confirm Donald Trump's nominee to be secretary of state. The nomination of Rex Tillerson got a boost on Sunday after two Republican senators — John McCain of Arizona and Lindsey Graham of South Carolina — offered tepid endorsement of the former Exxon Mobil chief.

Trump's 'running war' on the media undermines trust

NEW YORK (AP) — Donald Trump's "running war" on the media is continuing into his presidency, with statements over the weekend calling into question the extent to which information from the White House can be trusted.

In this Jan. 19, 2017 photo, police stand guard outside the Trump International Hotel on Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington. While President Donald Trump's hotel in Washington did serve as a hub of inaugural activities, it also stands as a symbol of what top Democrats and some ethics advisers see as his unique web of conflicts of interest. Trump's lease with the federal government to develop and operate the historic Old Post Office building expressly prohibits any elected official from the property, yet Trump has not divested from his company or this particular project.
