
From: Deedie Harrington <dyharrington@me.com>
Sent: Monday, January 26, 2015 7:51 PM
To: webhelpdesk
Cc: Haley, Nikki
Subject: War Vet License tags

This is really sad. I asked if you had an Afghanistan license tag. Other states do. You sent me to a website I have already checked out.

Then you gave me a phone number to call. How unhelpful. A simple no would have made more of an impression. I have already checked out your website - before I emailed you.

I served honorably. I guess this means that SC does not honor its veterans unless wounded or disabled. Not everyone got medals of honor or bronze stars or even purple hearts. But we still sacrificed our time for our country.

Warmest regards,

Deedie Harrington, CDR, NC, USN

Mount Pleasant, South Carolina

dyharrington@me.com

843-475-9279

On Jan 26, 2015, at 2:04 PM, webhelpdesk <help@scdmvonline.com> wrote:

The following link will take you to our available Military license plates.

<http://www.scdmvonline.com/DMVNew/PlateGallery.aspx?q=Military>

If you have additional questions, please contact SC DMV at (803) 896-5000.

Thank you,
Stephanie

From: Deedie Harrington [<mailto:dyharrington@me.com>]

Sent: Sunday, January 25, 2015 10:50 AM

To: webhelpdesk

Subject: War Vet License tags

I am a combat vet who served in Afghanistan. Some states have a combat vet Afghanistan license tag for cars.

Does South Carolina? If not, is there something in the works.

Many thanks!

Warmest regards,

Deedie Harrington
dyharrington@me.com