As a frequent user of your website over many years searching, learning and reserving campsites, I just wanted to tell you how awesome your new website is! It is SO much easier to navigate and learn and find just what I am looking for. Thank you as this will make our future camping decisions so much easier! :)

Well your countless hours have not gone unnoticed here! I know it can be a thankless job. It is really a dramatic change for the better. Honestly, I used to get a bit frustrated when searching for new places to adventure to, and many times ended up exiting out before ever making a decision - so many clicks to find out basic information about a park. After researching just a couple, I had spent so much time trying to find info I would give up. Now, just WOW! I love the park map clearly showing where each park is located (i.e.: on water, etc..) and then the ease of having all of my questions answered in the same easy-to-read format for each park. Really, great job. Thank you so much!
