Has she made a request for HUD money related to Hurricane Matthew and the subsequent flooding? No

If not, does she plan to make a request?

"Between FEMA Individual Assistance, SBA loans, insurance, and private donations, more than $600 million in resources have already been made available to address the needs of South Carolina citizens in the wake of Hurricane Matthew. Through our Disaster Recovery Office intake centers and FEMA Individual Assistance applications--for which we recently requested a 30-day extension to the application period--we will get a better understanding of any remaining unmet housing needs and then make a determination on how best to meet them."

What's the proposed quote? I can't tell from the string.

Also, is there background information for us to provide? Did they send us any of that?

Chaney,

The quote below sums it up. We are still working through the process to determine unmet needs and, once determined, the best way to address those needs.

Let me know if you need anything further.

David- can you get us answers here?

We will need background info as to why we made the decision we did and what you suggest we say on the record.

This is an on deadline request for today so we will need the information as soon as possible.

Hey Chaney,

I know last year Gov. Haley and some local officials requested federal disaster recovery funds from HUD, which ultimately amounted to $157 million statewide.

If I'm not mistaken, Haley's previous request was sent in December 2015.

Has she made a request for HUD money related to Hurricane Matthew and the subsequent flooding? No

If so, how much was that request for? Can I get a copy of that letter?

If not, does she plan to make a request? This is the response we prepared last week in anticipation of this question when we released the costs:

"Between FEMA Individual Assistance, SBA loans, insurance, and private donations, more than $600 million in resources have already been made available to address the needs of South Carolina citizens in the wake of Hurricane Matthew. Through our Disaster Recovery Office intake centers and FEMA Individual Assistance applications--for which we recently requested a 30-day extension to the application period--we will get a better understanding of any remaining unmet housing needs and then make a determination on how best to meet them."

I'd like to get a story in tomorrow's paper.

All the best,
-Avery
