NASUAD Published Updated State Medicaid Integration Tracker

NASUAD has published the November 2015 Edition of the State Medicaid Integration Tracker. The State Medicaid Integration Tracker is a monthly report summarizing state actions in Managed Long Term Services and Supports (MLTSS), as well as State Demonstrations to Integrate Care for Dual Eligible Individuals and other Medicare-Medicaid Coordination Initiatives.

The Tracker also includes updates on state participation in other LTSS activities, including: the Balancing Incentive Program; Medicaid State Plan Amendments under 1915(i); Community First Choice Option under 1915(k); and Medicaid Health Homes. This tracker includes new updates for each state that occurred during the most recent month.

AARP Blog Highlights NCI-AD

In a blog posted on November 5, 2015, AARP highlighted states' efforts to measure quality in their long-term services and supports (LTSS) for older people and adults with disabilities using the National Core Indicators-Aging and Disabilities (NCI-AD) consumer survey tool. NCI-AD gathers valid and reliable data that states can use for state-to-state, regional, and programmatic comparisons and to drive improvements in care and quality of life for LTSS consumers. June 1, 2015, marked the official launch of this state-run initiative, with 14 states committing to a statewide survey this year.

NASUAD has partnered with Human Services Research Institute (HSRI) to develop and run the NCI-AD initiative. If you are interested in learning more, please contact Kelsey Walter.

The Impact of Employment on Health and Health Care Costs for People with Disabilities

The LEAD Center published a policy brief that examines the impact of employment programs on health care costs for working-age people with disabilities. People with disabilities are responsible for a disproportionate amount of healthcare spending each year, mainly through Medicare and Medicaid. Employment of people with disabilities shows a "protective impact" on health, which would ultimately help to lower public spending on health care for this population. The brief specifically shows the correlation between employment and health and a causal relationship between work and health status.

From the Administration

Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services

Final Rule Issued for 2016 Medicare Physician Fee Schedule

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) released a final rule that explains how they will pay for services provided to Medicare beneficiaries by physicians and other health care professionals in 2016. The policies in this rule include finalizing the Home Health Value-Based Purchasing model, the "Two-Midnight" rule, the End-Stage Renal Disease Quality Incentive Program, the new physician payment system, and payment for advance care planning. Providers will now be paid for end-of-life planning to encourage advanced care counseling. These payment rules help to publicize CMS' dedication to improving quality, value, and patient-centered care.

Proposed Rule Revises Discharge Planning to Include Patient Preference

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) released a proposed rule that would change the discharge planning requirements that must be met to participate in Medicare and Medicaid. The proposed revisions would improve quality of care, reduce readmissions and complications, and include patient preferences in the process. The Improving Medicare Post-Acute Care Transformation Act of 2014 (IMPACT Act) provides discharge planning requirements that will be added following the finalization of the rule. These requirements allow for the involvement of patient input and participation in their discharge planning. The proposed rule has been published in the Federal Register with a 60-day comment period. All comments must be submitted by Monday, January 4, 2015, at 5 p.m. ET.

Department of Health and Human Services

Health Insurance Marketplace Open Enrollment Begins

The United States Department of Health and Human Services announced the start of the Health Insurance Marketplace Open Enrollment period for 2016. This period began on Sunday, November 1, 2015, and runs until January 31, 2016. Open Enrollment is the time when people without health insurance can sign up for new affordable and quality coverage under the Affordable Care Act. Additionally, it is important for current beneficiaries to reevaluate their plans to identify if there are better options for the new year. Beneficiaries can search through Healthcare.gov for different plan options and to compare costs and premiums.

National Institute on Aging

Resources for Long Distance Caregivers

Being a caregiver comes with many challenges, and acting as a long distance caregiver comes with even more obstacles. The National Institute on Aging has created several resources to help long distance caregivers. The tip sheets offer advice on different type of information that should be accessed, sharing responsibilities among a family, and referrals for services. Additionally, using their hashtag, #caregiving, will help to spread these great resources to other families that may need them.

From Congress

House of Representatives

Creation of a Medicaid Task Force

The House Energy and Commerce Committee has created a Medicaid Task Force to evaluate and strengthen the crucial program. Health Subcommittee Vice Chairman, Brett Guthrie, will chair the task force, which is composed of only Republican Representatives. Committee Chairman, Fred Upton, appointed Representative Marsha Blackburn, Representative Susan Brooks, Representative Larry Bucshon, Representative Michael C. Burgess, Representative Chris Collins, Representative Bill Flores, and Representative Markwayne Mullin to serve on the task force.

From Other Organizations

American Society on Aging

Webinar: Ageism in America- A Call for Research

The American Society on Aging is hosting a webinar on the current climate of ageism in America. A call for research is the best way to move forward with combating ageism in our society. The webinar will present the current research agenda which addresses the following issues: the pressing need to understand the role ageism plays in workforce participation and performance; the ways in which ageism may limit the effectiveness of interventions to improve health in older populations; and, failure in much scientific research to differentiate between pathological and normal aging, thus producing overly negative conclusions about the effects of aging.

The webinar will be presented by Laura L Carstensen and Sarah Raposo. Laura L Carstensen, Ph.D is a Fairleigh S. Dickinson Jr. Professor of Public Policy at Stanford University and Director of the Stanford Center on Longevity and Sarah Raposo, B.A., is a doctoral candidate in the psychology department at Stanford University. Complimentary CEUs are available for participants and pre-registration is required. This webinar will take place on Tuesday, November 10, 2015, from 1:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. ET.
