

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Timeline posts

Record ID: 20111028South-Carolina-State-ParksTimeline-posts52748_10150373000278166

South Carolina State Parks

at 0:42:52 on 10/28/2011 UTC · 🌐

Check out this cool photo of the sun shining through the pines at Cheraw State Park. The pines at Cheraw are home to the endangered red-cockaded woodpecker.

Spartanburg.com Beautiful!

at 0:53:48 on 10/28/2011 UTC

Connie Ward Way Kool!!

at 1:21:30 on 10/28/2011 UTC

Jody Burnette Ogilvie This park is one of my favorite places.

at 1:27:35 on 10/28/2011 UTC

Becky Pendergrass Speechless

at 1:28:28 on 10/28/2011 UTC

Jay Clingman I know these trees! Hi, y'all!

at 2:22:18 on 10/28/2011 UTC

Rick Smith They do look familiar Jay...

at 3:36:33 on 10/28/2011 UTC

Rick Smith The pine on the right with the white band is a nesting tree for the RCW. If you spot a white banded pine, you might spot a RCW. You have to look fast though. They are only around home at daylight and dusk.

at 3:39:21 on 10/28/2011 UTC