Hunger Takes No Vacation

Heading out to a South Carolina State Park? Pack a little extra. South Carolina State Parks is partnering with the South Carolina Food Bank Association in a 5-month long food drive to help fill pantries and feed the hungry. The program "Hunger Takes No Vacation" invites you to drop off unopened, non-perishable food items and goods, especially those left over from vacations and trips, to collection bins at nearby state parks. The parks will send those donations to the official food bank in their region. The statewide effort officially kicked off Wednesday, July 1, and will end Monday, Nov. 30 after Thanksgiving. You may drop off your donations at collection boxes located in each park. For more information, contact the park office or ranger station of the park you are planning to visit.
