

From: Bateman L

Sent: 10/4/2015 4:10:16 PM

To: Haley, Nikki; Gowdy Rep. Trey; Duncan Rep. Jeff; Aiken Susan B.; Scott Sen. Tim; Mulvaney Mick; Turner Laura Bauld; Wilson Alan

Cc: McKeown Joe; Moore Matt; Schimsa, Rebecca; Dismukes Lucille; Floyd Karen; Bedingfield Eric; Brannon Rep. Doug; Gibbs Danielle; Loftis Curtis; Moss Steve; Ridings DeLinda; Allison Rep. Rita; Bright Sen. Lee; Chumley Rep. Bill; Cole Rep. J Derham; Crick Cindy; Forrester Rep. Mike; Hall Jane; Hicks Donna; Horton Jeff; Martin Sen. Shane; Nutt Roger; Tallon Rep. Eddie; Todd Starnes; Wright Chuck; Coggins Lynn; Evatt Patrick; Ford Steve and Amy; Lanier Marsha and Jeff; Lee Lisa

Subject: Ted Kennedy's Immigration Rewrite Turns 50

Brief and very sobering overview for your immediate consideration. Thank you for your consideration and service.

Very respectfully,

Larry Bateman

864.497.4949

"If ever time should come, when vain and aspiring men shall possess the highest seats in Government, our country will stand in need of its experienced patriots to prevent its ruin." ~ Samuel Adams

Begin forwarded message:

From: "jhahn@breitbart.com <<mailto:jhahn@breitbart.com>>"
<jhahn@breitbart.com <<mailto:jhahn@breitbart.com>>>

Subject: Ted Kennedy's Immigration Rewrite Turns 50

Date: October 4, 2015 at 2:48:38 PM EDT

TED KENNEDY'S IMMIGRATION REWRITE TURNS FIFTY <<http://www.breitbart.com/big-government/2015/10/03/ted-kennedys-america-50-years-after-the-law-that-changed-everything/>> by JULIA HAHN <<http://www.breitbart.com/author/julia-hahn/>> 3 Oct 2015 Washington D.C.

Fifty years ago today, Ted Kennedy began changing the face of the United States by ushering the 1965 Immigration and Nationality Act through Congress. That legislation resulted in the fundamental transformation of the demographic, economic, social, and political landscape of nation, exactly the opposite of what its supporters promised <<http://www.lbjlibrary.org/lyndon-baines-johnson/timeline/lbj-on-immigration>>.

The Kennedy immigration law abolished the national origins quota system, which had favored immigrants from nations with a similar heritage to our own, and opened up American immigration visas to the entire world.

While about nine in ten of the immigrants who came to the United States during the 19th and 20th century hailed from Europe, the 1965 law inverted that figure. Today about 9 out of every 10 new immigrants brought into the country on green cards come from Latin America, Africa, Asia or the Middle East.

The size of the numbers also grew exponentially as well. According to Pew Research Center <<http://www.pewhispanic.org/2015/09/28/modern-immigration-wave-brings-59-million-to-u-s-driving-population-growth-and-change-through-2065/>>, 59 million immigrants entered the United States following the Act's passage. Including their children, that added 72 million new residents to the U.S. population.

In 1965, according to Pew, the country was 84 percent white, 11 percent black, 4 percent Hispanic and less than 1 percent Asian.

In 2015, as a result of Kennedy's immigration law, the country is now 62 percent white, 12 percent black, 18 percent Hispanic and 6 percent Asian.

Pew projects <<http://www.breitbart.com/big-government/2015/09/28/pew-whites-account-less-half-u-s-population-2055-46-percent-2065/>> that in forty years time, "no racial or ethnic group will constitute a majority of the U.S. population," as "whites are projected to become less than half of the U.S. population by 2055." Therefore, by 2065, the nation would be 46 percent white, 24 percent Hispanic, 14 percent Asian and 13 percent black.

Moving forward, Pew projects, births to current Americans will be vastly outnumbered by new arrivals unless Congress hits the "pause" button on issuing new green cards. If that doesn't happen, Pew projects an immigration flow so large that nine-tenths of all new residents will be immigrants or their children. In a 2012 report <<http://cis.org/projecting-immigrations-impact-on-the-size-and-age-structure-of-the-21st-century-american-population>>, the Center for Immigration Studies observed that: "if the level of immigration the Census Bureau foresees in 2050 were to continue after that date, the U.S. population would reach 618 million by 2100 — double the 2010 population."

Those numbers could go even higher as many politicians, most notably Senator Marco Rubio <http://www.breitbart.com/immigration/2015/10/01/exclusive-marco-rubio-fails-support-single-gop-immigration-enforcement-bill/>, are pushing to dramatically expand the number of green cards, foreign workers and refugees. These limitless immigration expansions are sought by donors who want to keep workers' salaries as low as possible.

Today, after five decades of large-scale immigration, real average wages are lower than they were in 1973, shortly after the green card gusher began.

Because foreign workers do jobs for such low pay, their incomes are padded with welfare. A census data report <http://www.breitbart.com/big-government/2015/09/02/report-immigrant-households-using-welfare-at-vastly-higher-rate-than-native-born-households/> authored by the nonpartisan Center for Immigration Studies recently found that "immigrant households use welfare at significantly higher rates than native households," with more than half of U.S. immigrants on welfare.

Manhattan Institute scholar Heather Mac Donald has observed <http://www.city-journal.org/html/16_3_immigration_reform.html> foreign-born Hispanics and their American-born children use welfare at rates which vastly exceed those of native-born whites. "Native-born Hispanics collected welfare at over twice the rate as native-born whites," Mac Donald writes.

Moreover, the Hispanic population accounted for almost the entire increase in poverty from 1990 to 2004. As Washington Post columnist Robert Samuelson has reported <http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/04/19/AR2006041902483.html>:

The number of Hispanics with incomes below the government's poverty line [rose] 52 percent; that [represents] almost all (92 percent) of the increase in poor people," Samuelson writes. "Among children, disparities are greater. Over the same period, Hispanic children in poverty [rose] 43 percent; meanwhile, the numbers of black and non-Hispanic white children in poverty declined 16.9 percent and 18.5 percent, respectively.

The impact of the Kennedy-backed bill is also evident on the nation's education system. After five decades of providing visas to poor nations, a majority of public school students are minorities <http://www.edweek.org/ew/articles/2014/08/20/01demographics.h34.html>, a majority of students <http://www.washingtonpost.com/local/education/majority-of-us-public-school-students-are-in-poverty/2015/01/15/df7171d0-9ce9-11e4-a7ee-526210d665b4_story.html> now qualify for subsidized school lunches, and U.S. test scores have plummeted. As the liberal-website Vox recently observed:

The results <https://secure-media.collegeboard.org/digitalServices/pdf/2015-college-board-results-national-report.pdf> for last year's SAT test-takers are in, and they're not good: the lowest on record in the last decade... The pool of test takers is more likely to include poor and nonwhite students than before... SAT-takers have become more racially diverse, largely because a greater share of test-takers are Hispanic now than in the past. The share of students from poor families and those who learned English as a second language have increased... as the pool of test-takers has gotten more diverse and poorer than in the past, the average score has fallen slightly from year to year. To some extent, that's to be expected.

Increased spending, combined with race-based affirmative action policies, have been widely instituted to try to equalize the results between white and soon-to-be-majority students. But the "achievement gap" remains.

The failing schools, in turn, feed into gangs.

As Heather Mac Donald explains <http://www.city-journal.org/html/16_3_immigration_reform.html>:

California, with one-quarter of the nation's immigrants and its greatest concentration of Mexicans and Central Americans, is the bellwether state for all things relating to unbridled Hispanic immigration, including crime. The Children of Immigrants Longitudinal Study, conducted by sociologists Alejandro Portes of Princeton and Rubén G. Rumbaut of the University of California, Irvine, followed the children of immigrants in San Diego and Miami from 1992 to 2003. A whopping 28 percent of Mexican-American males between the ages of 18 and 24 reported having been arrested since 1995, and 20 percent reported having been incarcerated—a rate twice that of other immigrant groups. Anyone who speaks to Hispanic students in immigrant-saturated schools in Southern California will invariably hear the estimate that 50 percent of a student's peers have ended up in gangs or other criminal activities.

Indeed, many of the nations' violent gangs would not exist in the United States but for immigration. In a Business Insider article <http://www.businessinsider.com/dangerous-american-gangs-fbi-2011-11?op=1%20> perhaps somewhat misleadingly entitled "13 American Gangs That Keep the FBI Up At Night," eleven of the thirteen listed gangs are in the country solely as a result of immigration.

"The 18th Street Gang is considered the largest street gang in California... [the gang's] reach extends across 32 states from Maryland to Hawaii."

The gang "Flores 13 works closely with the Mexican Mafia... [and] is part of a terrifying gang war scene that has turned L.A. into one of the most dangerous counties in the country."

The gang "Los Aztecas work with the Juarez cartel and Los Zetas <http://www.fbi.gov/stats-services/publications/2011-national-gang-threat-assessment> running drugs, smuggling illegal aliens and murdering consulate officials <http://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/2011/August/11-crm-1101.html>."

The "Latin King Nation is said to be the largest Hispanic street gang in the country... The gang's influence stretches to 34 states."

"Somali gangs are becoming more prevalent across the country... Strangely, the biggest pockets of Somali gangs can be found in states like Minnesota, Washington, and Missouri."

"Trinitarios... The predominantly Dominican gang... is notorious for recruiting in high schools throughout New York and New Jersey <http://www.nypost.com/p/news/regional/item_cnwW2pR9Ssnz6yW101xhSP%3bjsessionid=A6B67728A3994A549EFD0454D20827A3>, and is said to be behind a