Katherine,

Always good to talk with you; glad you are well.

The young man we chatted about is Javoy Johnson, son of Vivienne Johnson who works at Wexford. He's a bright & terrific young man who has been accepted into the Engineering Program at Clemson. Both the Governor and Coach Sweeney had asked me to keep them apprised of Javoy's decision; I know they both will be delighted!

On a completely separate topic, the email below is from a very good friend of mine, a former Democratic Councilman in Annapolis, Maryland, who has been to my house to support Nikki. Could you tell me who this should be sent to or if this has become a dead issue? Sorry to bother you. Take care.

Subj: Columbia Farmer's Market

Bob,
When the University or State bought the old farmer's market in Columbia and moved it to its new location off #26, we were told that a new RV park would be built at the new market. South Carolina is really behind the curve in its support for the camping segment of the state's recreation. Most of the existing campgrounds are old and in various states of disrepair. There is only one private RV park for visitors to Columbia in Lexington and it is full nearly all of the time. A new RV park at the farmer's market would serve both the market and the general area. If the state did not want to invest the funds, I am certain we could get a group of private investors to do it if the right parcel of ground was made available. Appreciate your sending this to our friend and hope she had a great time here at Wexford under your guiding hand.
