Update:

Today, Pickens County declared a local state of emergency at 11:30 a.m. today with the county EOC partially activated to OPCON 3. Both EMD and the National Guard have liaisons on site to support as needed.

Evacuations – Pickens County is planning on doing a precautionary evacuation of 86 homes tomorrow morning at 8:00 a.m., similar to the evacuation implemented over the weekend.

Public Outreach – Pickens EOC established a public information line at 864-898-2437 to answer citizens' questions. The Forestry Commission is also updating social media and other outlets on smoke awareness and other updates.

Fire Status: Although still 25% contained, the fire grew in size about 500 acres yesterday due to burnout operations on the west side and growth down slopes near Table Rock. Smoke will continue to linger over the Upstate as there are only light winds.

Today's Operations:

- National Guard helicopters will continue water drops to cool hotspots, especially in the Panther Gap area.
- Patrols will continue along the burnout areas and will scout possible locations for additional firebreaks.
- Officials will continue to go door-to-door to inform residents of the fire's status; other community outreach efforts are ongoing in nearby convenience stores along the main thoroughfares (Hwys 11 and 178).

Fire's Origin: Confirmed to be an escaped campfire—rumors that it was a Boy Scout campfire are incorrect.
