Dear Nikki,

There's no doubt that today's applications enable agencies do more with their networks than they've ever been able to do before. The problem comes from the bandwidth and speed required to support those applications.

Fortunately, Hughes can solve that problem with Hughes High-Capacity Access <http://pages.myhughessolutions.com/n0V908700ZFj0AM0k100uM1>, a robust network service that delivers high performance—up to 12 Mbps network speeds—even to remote offices.

Up to 8x faster than standard T1s, Hughes High-Capacity Access employs the most cost-effective broadband available at each branch location—whether fiber, cable or DSL. For DSL sites, Hughes employs innovative ActiveBonding technology to intelligently combine multiple DSL links into a single high-capacity connection, giving each application access to the full combined capacity.

Better performance for your apps

- Bonds multiple links for up to 12+ Mbps connectivity at field sites

- Greater reach than Ethernet—not dependent on Central Office upgrades
- Deploy at all locations
- Cost-effective on a $/bandwidth basis and in terms of total cost

How an agency with 200 sites can save $1.7 million over three years.
