Kevin, please see the attached job announcement. It sounds like we did not receive many qualified applicants with the previous posting for this position. Tony mentioned that there were some needs for this position that may not have been addressed inside of the posting. If you guys can get me a list of responsibilities that need to be added and time associated with each, I can format the posting, add to the PD and get the job reposted.

Please let me know if you need additional information from me. Thank you.
