

From: SC Policy Council <info=scpolicycouncil.com@mail192.atl61.mcsv.net>
To: Veldran, KatherineKatherineVeldran@gov.sc.gov
Date: 3/19/2016 7:02:34 AM
Subject: THE LATEST: putting lobbyist principals in charge of biz taxes // and more

---

---

---

Putting Lobbying Nonprofits in Charge of Business Taxes?

The business license tax is one of the most arbitrary and punitive taxes in the code. Many lawmakers say they favor reforming or repealing it. What's might happen instead is something far worse than most of us would have thought possible: One proposal is to give the power to set tax rates to unaccountable non-governmental organizations that lobby the State House for favors. Our policy analyst explains what it's all about here, and SCPC president discusses the broader context here.

---

Not Much to Be Thrilled about in Recent Ethics Debate

"Ethics reform": the General Assembly is at it again. The trouble is, most politicians' definition differs significantly from what you probably mean by the term. more>>

---

USC Pays Millions for Program It Already Had

The university of South Carolina is still reeling from this Nerve story. Somewhere between 30 and 35 people have been fired so far ... more>>

---

Upstate Resident: Uh-oh, Here Comes DSS

For a state agency constantly in chaos, the state Department of Social Services sure can be picky about silly and arbitrary regulations. more>>

---

---

Copyright © 2015 | South Carolina Policy Council | All rights reserved.

Our mailing address is:

1323 Pendleton Street
Columbia, SC 29201

unsubscribe from this list   update subscription preferences