Governor Nikki Haley
Office of the Governor
1205 Pendleton Street
Columbia, SC 29201

Dear Governor Haley,

It's hard to believe 2014 is drawing to a close but anticipation for the celebration of our Lord's birth renews the spirit of Hope, as Peter declares that we are to: "But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear."

The enclosed book "Utmost for His Highest," written by the Scottish Minister Oswald Chambers is a devotional I have found to be one that uplifts and edifies the spirit in times of testing.

Luke along with his mom Carol, brother and sister Jason and Meredith are visiting their 94 years young Grandmother, in Florida, for Christmas.

I'm assigned the home front caring for our Labrador Daisey.

Keeping your family in prayer for a blessed Christmas, a wonderful upcoming Inaugural Celebration and be encouraged knowing the verse you have selected, Philippians 4:13, for guidance will bring peace and comfort in all circumstances.

Sincerely

Cliff Gribick

No Tears In Heaven was inspired by a young boy, Luke Gribick, a traumatic brain injury survivor. Children's Hospital and The Brain Injury Association of South Carolina have served an important role in Luke's recovery; presented in video on No Tears In Heaven.

Read about Luke's visit with the Governor of South Carolina, an honorable and joyful person who has a sincere desire to serve others: Nikki Haley. A link to the Governor's book, "Can't Is Not an Option" - a story of courage, compassion and conviction, is also provided at the dedicated link: "Luke Visits Governor Haley."

No Tears In Heaven also includes 53 other stories that "God knows and cares for every challenge, circumstance or crisis a family or individual may encounter."
