Why are SC Work Ready Communities county applications approved by the State Workforce Investment Board (SWIB)?

The SC Work Ready Communities initiative is a multi-agency, public/private partnership initiative. Although this is strictly a locally driven initiative, due to funding being provided with state and local funds, application approval and statewide oversight is needed by a statewide entity. The State Workforce Investment Board is a business majority run board and in order to sustain this initiative through changes in administration and to address the workforce supply and demand gap in our state.
