The Federal Government Receivables & Research Bureau is providing a "How to Get Paid by Uncle Sam" conference with Wide Area Workflow Demo lab training conference in Washington, DC on August 12-14, 2015. Please forward this email to your billing, collections, contracting, and accounting employees. This important conference will help you enhance your cash flow in a more speedy fashion. Speakers are employees from the federal agencies themselves. Speakers include; DFAS Columbus and Cleveland representatives, iRAPT/Wide Area Workflow officials, Department of Treasury, Veterans Affairs, Tungsten formerly OB 10, Coast Guard Finance Center, Defense Contract Audit Agency (invited not confirmed) and more.

As an added note DFAS has asked me to add this to our email contents.

From DFAS—The myInvoice system is moving to iRAPT/Wide Area Work Flow based on a directive from the Department of Defense mandating one entry point for all contractors/vendors working with the U.S. Government. Contractors/vendors not using WAWF will need to register for iRAPT/WAWF in order to gain access to the new myInvoice functionality and to start submitting invoices through WAWF. As a result of this mandate, contractors/vendors must send myInvoice data to WAWF by way of the Global Exchange (GEX).

This may be our last conference for several months to a year. Due to the continuing of budget cuts we strongly urge you to try and attend this valuable training session.

In addition there will be much information provided regarding how to use iRAPT/Wide Area Workflow to maximize your company's ability to get paid on time. We will have an iRAPT/Wide Area Workflow Demo Lab as well.

Other important topics include a Veterans Affairs presentation including their mandatory e-billing system Tungsten formerly OB10, Treasury's IPP system, and various presentations from DFAS and other finance centers.
