[ CCL: Excerpts; emphasis, comments added ]

(CNN) - A new grand jury report says that internal documents from six [ Roman ] Catholic dioceses in Pennsylvania show that more than 300 "predator [Roman Catholic] priests" have been credibly accused of sexually abusing more than 1,000 child victims.

"We believe that the real number of children whose records were lost or who were afraid ever to come forward is in the thousands ," the grand jury report says.

"[Roman Catholic] Priests were raping little boys and girls, and the men of God [CCL: SIC !!! - rather, unsaved men in most cases appointed by the Vatican's Papal Antichrist , the Pope] who were responsible for them not only did nothing; they hid it all. For decades. Monsignors, auxiliary bishops , bishops , archbishops , cardinals have mostly been protected; many, including some named in this report, have been promoted."

The grand jury described the [Roman Catholic false] church's methods as "a playbook for concealing the truth" after FBI agents identified a series of practices they found in [Roman Catholic false church] diocese files.

The lengthy report, released Tuesday afternoon, investigates [Roman Catholic] clergy sexual abuse dating to 1947 in six [Roman Catholic] dioceses: Allentown, Erie, Greensburg, Harrisburg, Pittsburgh and Scranton.

Pennsylvania's two other [Roman Catholic] dioceses, Philadelphia and Altoona-Johnstown, have been the subjects of earlier grand jury reports, which found similarly damaging information about [Roman Catholic] clergy and [Roman Catholic] bishops in those [Roman Catholic] dioceses.

"There have been other reports about child sex abuse within the [Roman] Catholic Church. But never on this scale," the grand jurors wrote in Tuesday's report.

"For many of us, those earlier stories happened someplace else, someplace away. Now we know the truth:

it happened everywhere ."

The grand jurors said that "almost every instance of abuse we found is too old to be prosecuted." But charges have been filed against two [Roman Catholic] priests, one in Erie [Roman Catholic] diocese and another in Greensburg [Roman Catholic] diocese, who have been accused of abusing minors.

"We learned of these abusers directly from their [Roman Catholic] dioceses -- which we hope is a sign that the [Roman Catholic false] church is finally changing its ways," the grand jurors said. "And there may be more indictments in the future; investigation continues."

At a news conference announcing the report's release, Pennsylvania Attorney General Josh Shapiro called it the "largest, most comprehensive report into child sexual abuse within the [Roman] Catholic Church ever produced in the United States."

Molestations and rapes

At times, the lengthy catalog of [Roman Catholic] clergy sexual abuses in the report is difficult to read.

As the grand jurors note, [Roman Catholic] priests and other [Roman] Catholic leaders victimized boys and girls, teens and pre-pubescent children .

Some victims were plied with alcohol and groped or molested, the report says. Others were orally, vaginally or anally raped, according to the grand jurors.

"But all of them were brushed aside, in every part of the state, by [Roman Catholic false] church leaders who preferred to protect the abusers and their [false Roman Catholic] institution above all."

Among the more egregious cases, the grand jury reports that:

- In the Greensburg [Roman Catholic] diocese, a [Roman Catholic] priest impregnated a 17-year-old, forged a pastor's signature on a marriage certificate and divorced the girl months later. According to the grand jury, the [Roman Catholic] priest was allowed to stay in [Roman Catholic] ministry by finding a "benevolent [Roman Catholic] bishop."

- Another [Roman Catholic] priest in Greensburg groomed middle-school students for sex, according to the grand jury, by telling them that Mary had to "bite off the cord" and "lick" Jesus clean after the Nativity.
- In Harrisburg, a [Roman Catholic] priest abused five sisters from the same family and collected samples of their urine, pubic hair and menstrual blood.
- Also in Harrisburg, a [Roman Catholic] priest raped a 7-year-old girl who was in the hospital after her tonsils were removed, according to the report.
- In Pittsburgh, [Roman Catholic false] church officials said that a 15-year-old boy "pursued" and "literally seduced" a [Roman Catholic] priest. A [Roman Catholic false] church report later acknowledged that the [Roman Catholic] priest had admitted to "sado-masochistic" activities with several boys.
- In the Allentown [Roman Catholic] diocese, a [Roman Catholic] priest admitted sexually molesting a boy and pleaded for help, according to documents, but was left in [Roman Catholic] ministry for several more years.
- Also in Allentown, a [Roman Catholic] priest who had abused several boys, according to the grand jury, was given a recommendation to work at Disney World.
- In Scranton, a [Roman Catholic] priest who later served prison time for abusing children was found to have been HIV-positive for years.

Tuesday's news conference began with a short video of three victims who told how they were abused and how it changed their lives.

An 83-year-old man said he couldn't show any affection to his wife and children as a result of the abuse he suffered.

A woman said the abuse started when she was 18 months old. Another man said, "When you have the [Roman Catholic] priest touching you every day, that's a hard memory to have. The first erection that you have is at the hands of a [Roman Catholic] priest."

The victims said this was "not a vendetta against the [Roman Catholic false] church" and that abusers have "to be accountable in the [Roman Catholic false] church for what they did."

'Grave failings'

The grand jury's searing report comes as the [Roman] Catholic Church, including [JESUIT] Pope Francis, is struggling to contain a sexual abuse scandal rapidly consuming the [Roman Catholic false] church on several continents .

In Australia , a [Roman Catholic] bishop has been found guilty of covering up sexual abuse. In Chile, the [JESUIT] Pope was forced to recant his dismissal of an abuse scandal involving a prominent [Roman Catholic] priest and [Roman Catholic] bishops accused of covering up his crimes.

And in the United States, a prominent [Roman Catholic] archbishop was removed from the powerful College of Cardinals following reports that he had molested a teenage altar boy and several others while he was rising through the [Roman Catholic false] church's ranks. Meanwhile, [Roman Catholic] bishops in Boston and Nebraska are investigating possible cases of sexual abuse in [Roman Catholic] Catholic seminaries .

"The report of the Pennsylvania grand jury again illustrates the pain of those who have been victims of the crime of sexual abuse by individual members of our [Roman Catholic] clergy, and by those who shielded abusers and so facilitated an evil that continued for years or even decades," [Roman Catholic] Cardinal Daniel DiNardo, president of the U.S. Conference of [Roman] Catholic Bishops and [Roman Catholic] Bishop Timothy L. Doherty, chair of the [Roman Catholic] bishops' Committee for the Protection of Children and Young People [sic], said in a statement.

"As a body of [Roman Catholic] bishops, we are shamed by and sorry for the sins and omissions by [Roman] Catholic priests and [Roman] Catholic bishops."

The Vatican declined to comment on the grand jury report.

For weeks, many [Roman] Catholics in the United States had been warily waiting for the Pennsylvania grand jury's report, especially as [Roman Catholic] bishops in the state began publicly releasing the names of accused [Roman Catholic] clergy in an apparent attempt to preempt some of the report's findings.

In a statement on Monday before the report was published, [Roman Catholic] Cardinal Donald Wuerl, the former [Roman Catholic] Bishop of Pittsburgh who now heads the [Roman Catholic] Archdiocese of Washington, said the report "will be a reminder of the grave failings that the [Roman Catholic false] church must acknowledge and for which it must seek forgiveness."

continued...

Delays in publication

Court action had delayed the report's publication. A number of individuals named in the report claimed that its findings were false or misleading, that they were denied due process of law and that its release would impair their reputations.

On July 27, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ordered the grand jury report to be released by 2 p.m. August 14 with redactions in sections where litigation was ongoing.

State Attorney General Josh Shapiro had written to Pope Francis on July 25, requesting that the [JESUIT] Pontiff direct [Roman Catholic false] church leaders to stop "efforts to silence the survivors ."

"A comprehensive investigation by the Office of Attorney General found widespread sexual abuse of children and a systematic coverup by leaders of the [Roman] Catholic Church," Shapiro said in his letter.

Harrisburg abuse list

On August 1, the leader of one of the largest Roman Catholic dioceses in Pennsylvania released a list identifying 71 [Roman Catholic] priests, deacons and seminarians accused of "substantiated" sexual misconduct over the past seven decades.

[Roman Catholic] Bishop Ronald Gainer of the Harrisburg [Roman Catholic] Diocese also issued an apology on behalf of the [Roman Catholic] religious community.

"That conduct has left a legacy of pain and sorrow that is still being felt," he wrote. "I apologize for these actions."

(CNN) - The leader of one of the largest Roman Catholic dioceses in Pennsylvania has released a list identifying 71 [Roman Catholic] priests, deacons and seminarians accused of "substantiated" sexual misconduct over the past seven decades.

The list's publication Wednesday came ahead of the expected release this month of a report by a Pennsylvania grand jury on sexual abuse by "300 priests in six Pennsylvania dioceses," a spokesman for the state's attorney general said in a statement. The grand jury's inquiry dates to 1947, the archdiocese said.

[Roman Catholic] Bishop Ronald Gainer of the Harrisburg [Roman Catholic] Diocese on Wednesday also issued an apology on behalf of the [Roman Catholic] religious community.

[Roman Catholic] Bishop says [Roman] Catholic Church suffers from 'crisis of sexual [ CCL: im ] morality'

(CNN) - The sexual abuse accusations against a prominent American [Roman Catholic] archbishop reveal a "grievous moral failure" within the [Roman] Catholic Church, the president of the US Conference of [Roman] Catholic Bishops said on Tuesday.

[Roman Catholic] Cardinal Daniel DiNardo, president of the [Roman] Catholic bishops conference, also said the conference "will pursue the many questions" about the accusations against [Roman Catholic] Archbishop Theodore McCarrick "to the full extent of its authority."

"Our [Roman Catholic false] Church is suffering from a crisis of sexual [ CCL: im ] morality," DiNardo said. "The way forward must involve learning from past sins."

DiNardo's statement comes as the [Roman] Catholic Church, including [JESUIT] Pope Francis, is facing a quickly escalating sexual abuse scandal that has ensnared top [Roman Catholic false] church leaders on several continents .

On Saturday, the Vatican announced that [JESUIT] Pope Francis had accepted the resignation of McCarrick, 88, from the College of Cardinals, one of the most powerful bodies in the [Roman] Catholic Church.

On Monday, [JESUIT] Pope Francis accepted the resignation of Australian Archbishop Philip Wilson of Adelaide , the highest-ranking [Roman] Catholic official ever to be convicted of covering up sex abuse . Another Australian [Roman Catholic false] church leader, [Roman Catholic] Cardinal George Pell, is on trial for sexual abuse charges from decades ago.

[ CCL Note: Roman Catholic Cardinal George Pell is on leave as the #3 ranking official in the Vatican, as the Vatican Financial Secretary , behind the Pope and the Secretary of State. "As Vatican Prefect for the Secretariat of the Economy, Pell is reported to be the most senior [ Roman ] Catholic cleric in the world to face such charges." ]

"In the long war on the truth, the most formidable, relentless and deceptive enemy has been Roman Catholicism .

It is an apostate , corrupt , heretical , false Christianity , it is a front for the kingdom of Satan. The true church

"The investigation into widespread sexual abuse of children within the Catholic Church and the systematic cover up by senior church officials in Pennsylvania and at the Vatican.
