

From: BuzzFeed <newsletter@buzzfeed.com>
To: Adams, ChaneyChaneyAdams@gov.sc.gov
Date: 1/8/2016 12:00:31 PM
Subject: This Week In Cats: Get Out Of The Way

---

This week's cat of the week is the surfing legend, N n kuli. As a rescue kitten he lost his eye, but now he's ridin' the waves like the big time champ that he is. Keep chasing your dreams, champ!

Cat Country started 2016 off with a real bang — individuals across all cat platforms strived to make this year the "Year Of The Cat," and it looks like they're well on their way to making that a reality. Let's check out the highlights, shall we?

- 1) The official list of the most important cats of 2015 was just released, and there are some pretty impressive felines.
- 2) Three newly blind rescue cats found a family in two pit bulls who are helping them live their best lives.
- 3) These stubborn kitties broke the rules, and they didn't care about the consequences one bit.
- 4) The greatest cat fort in the world was constructed, and it's actually really impressive.
- 5) This extremely angry cat was rescued from a shelter. Now she's an internet celebrity and everyone is in love with her.

In other corners of Cat Country, one kitty decided to assert her dominance by putting a tiny adorable piglet in her place. And another cat solidified his position of power when he refused to leave a supermarket, even after being escorted out.

This extremely awkward cat basically summed up life for every single one of us — don't worry, cat, it's hard out there.

Finally, Caesar the cat reminded all of us that it's important to admire yourself every once in a while.

It was a strong week for cats, but these felines will only grow more powerful from here. Stay tuned...

And those were the top links! Now we have Sarcastic Cat back in action to tell you all about New Year's Resolutions. Take it away, Sarcastic Cat!

First of all, I would like to congratulate all of you who are new versions of yourself. I soooooo look forward to seeing you stick with your incredible New Year's resolutions for the entirety of 2016 — and the world will surely be a better and more fulfilling place because of your dedication to living a better life and “being a better you.”

Seriously — it's truly great that more people will be hitting the gym this year, eating healthy, and saving money. There's nothing greater or more useful than a good old New Year's resolution. Who knew it was that easy to change your life for the better? Just wait for January 1st, do all the stuff you've been putting off, and voila — you've got it done!

Really, folks, who are we all kidding? All these people are going to stick to their “resolutions” for a couple of weeks and then go back to eating Cheeto dust off their fingers like the rest of us. Give up the act, cough up the New Year's resolution furball, and get back in your cardboard box where you belong.

---

**Do you know someone who paws-itively loves cats? Tell them to scoot on over and sign up for This Week In Cats here!**

---

Get more stories
on BuzzFeed

Trending
on BuzzFeed

---

This BuzzFeed email was sent to chaneyadams@gov.sc.gov | Unsubscribe

Did a friend forward you this email? Sign up to get BuzzFeed in your inbox!

BuzzFeed, Inc. 200 Fifth Ave, 8th Floor, New York, NY 10010