THROWBACK THURSDAY! The ladies don't get quite this dressed up and hair not quite so coifed to head out to Barnwell State Park nowadays, but it is still a great place to go with family and friends. The swimming area has opened again too! Enjoy this photo from Barnwell State Park circa the 1930's. Thoroughbred Country South Carolina

Johnny Shaughnessy Always got to be somebody! I don't like Throwback Thursday cause it denigrates those fish not big enough to keep. Support the poor, unwanted fishes!

Shirley M. Purcell Oh, for heaven's sake, it merely means back in time! Doesn't have anything to do with fish, either!! Some people are so thin-skinned!

Anne Darnell Barnwell State Park is one of the greatest parks in SC. I have camped there and had just the very best of times. It has the best fishing in any of the 3 lakes. I have caught some very large copperbelly bream that I know were almost record size. The trails are such fun to bike or hike. Now that they have swimming reopened, I can't think of a more fun place to camp. Under the wonderful, cool tree canopy you can pitch a tent or park a camper with full service hookup. Meet you at Barnwell State Park. Happy Camping!!!

South Carolina State Parks I will certainly check on that....the date was in the metadata for the photo, but we'll look into it. You may be correct. Thanks!
