

From: Caregiver Newsletter <newsletters@caregiver.com>
To: Kester, Tonykester@aging.sc.gov
Date: 4/30/2015 9:10:47 AM
Subject: Caring for My Wife with Cancer

View this email in your browser

Forward

Share

Tweet

+1

Share

Caring for My Wife with Cancer • April 30, 2015 • Issue #808

EDITOR'S PEN

Gary Barg, Editor-in-Chief

Playing Kvetch

kvetch \ KVECH

adjective: 1. To complain habitually.

noun: 1. A complaint. | 2. A habitual complainer.

Sometimes, I feel there is a great disconnect between what is heard from the healthcare community and what caregivers are telling me themselves. (Ok, maybe more than often, just sometimes.) I do admit to feeling like somewhat of a kvetcher when these moments strike. But someone's got to do it.

Here we go:

Of course, you know my old complaint about the phrase "parenting your parent." "No matter what we have to do to support our parents as they need our help, we must never begin to think we are actually parenting them. ...more

IN THIS ISSUE

Playing Kvetch

What I Learned by Caring for My Wife with Cancer

The Nearest Doorknob

Avoiding Mistakes when Buying a Power Lift Chair

FEATURED ARTICLE

What I Learned by Caring for My Wife with Cancer

By Wally K.

In the very beginning of my wife, Ninfa's journey with a blood cancer called multiple myeloma, I felt stressed by the task of tracking her many daily medications. I wondered, "Should I give her another dose if I thought I had missed one?" or "Should I wait until the next scheduled dose and possibly miss the current one?" I knew that I wouldn't last long as a caregiver if I didn't develop an organized tracking system of knowing when and what medications I had given to her. A medication tracking system for your loved one can be as simple as handwritten notes. ...more

GUEST ARTICLE

The Nearest Doorknob

By Jane Hoppe

Wednesday's red blouse and black jacket hang from the bathroom door's inside knob. Thursday's teal sweater and scarf hang from the bathroom door's outside knob. My lavender jacket never made it into the front closet; it is still on that doorknob. Wednesday's beige canvas tote bag and Thursday's Monet's Water Lilies tote bag remain suspended on my office doorknob. ...more

CARETIPS

Avoiding Mistakes when Buying a Power Lift Chair Recliner: Five Tips From A Licensed Physical Therapist

By Jeff Roth MPT

If getting up and down from a sofa or chair is not as simple as it used to be for your loved one, buying a power lift chair may be the right move as they are relatively inexpensive for the benefits they provide. There are so many options, both in stores and online, when it comes to buying mobility equipment that it can become overwhelming. ...more

Today's Caregiver Supports Your Conference

Non-profit Organizations Sign-up Today!

Don't miss this opportunity. We will provide complimentary magazines for your conference attendees. All you pay is shipping and handling.

CAREVERSES

Joan

By Marie Davids

You sat in your wheelchair too weak to care about life's swirl today.
Ennui or malaise don't quite describe what I see in your face, your eyes.
When I speak you raise your hand
in a gesture that says
Sorry, too tired to listen.

...more

Enjoy more caregiver poems
or share one of your own

Copyright © 2015 Today's Caregiver, All rights reserved.

You are receiving this email because you are a subscriber to the Today's Caregiver Newsletter List or a friend thought you would be interested.

Our mailing address is:

Today's Caregiver 3350 Griffin Road Fort Lauderdale, FL 33312 USA

update subscription preferences

unsubscribe from this list