On Saturday, November 13 Redcliffe Plantation SHS will offer “The African-American Experience: African Origins,” a program which explores South Carolina’s African heritage. Did you know that there are 93 places in the state whose names come from Africa’s Bantu culture? Check out the flyer below for admission prices and program details.

A flyer for a program titled "The African-American Experience: African Origins". The flyer has a green background. At the top left, it says "The African-American Experience:" in a cursive font. Below that is a blue outline map of Africa. To the right of the map, the title "African Origins" is written in a large, blue, cursive font. Below the title, there is a paragraph of text: "Enslaved men and women of African descent found many ways to keep their culture and heritage alive during their captivity: Names and naming practices, language, medical knowledge, culinary traditions, stories and more were kept alive and passed down to future generations." Below this paragraph is another paragraph: "Learn about the difficult journey from freedom to slavery, from Africa to America, through the stories of men like Henry Snow of Redcliffe. Discover and discuss African naming practices and African place names in South Carolina, African cultural traditions and more during Redcliffe's 'African Origins' program!" At the bottom left, there is a blue box with white text: "Saturday, November 13, 2010", "10:00 a.m.—Noon", and "$6/Adult, $5.25/Senior, $4/Ages 6-16". To the right of this box is a small image of a plantation house. At the bottom right, there is contact information: "Redcliffe Plantation SHS", "181 Redcliffe Rd.", "Beech Island, SC 29842", "1-803-827-1473", and "redcliffe@scprt.com".
