FDI Highlights

A biweekly bulletin capturing recent foreign direct investment news in the United States

2014 Is Off to a Fast Start!

Katherine - This week Honda announced that it made history by becoming a net exporter – in 2013, its U.S. car exports exceeded its imports from Japan. Chicago is working to gain buzz as a major investment destination in the global business community. And, in his State of the Union address on Tuesday, President Obama cited “insourcing” as major fuel for American economic growth. Here at OFII, we continue to push the message of how global investment grows America’s economy, and I am happy to see that it is catching on.

Also, as you know, the big game is on this Sunday night, so take a minute to check out the OFII BOWL Commercials and then vote for your favorite on our Facebook page!
