Haley, I have always been a fan of yours. However, I see you have succumbed to political correctness the blithering idiot rino graham and tim scott. After doing some investigating, not one damn person the church by the Confederate flag. History has been rewritten so bad that everyone thinks the Civil War about slavery. What a big LIE. After watching the party of wimps and cowards, aka, the republicans, lied and done absolutely nothing since the landslide victory in 2014. Disgusting, sickening, and despicable.

I used to have a gun bumper sticker depicting a Confederate Flag and reads as follows:

YANKEES 1 REBELS 0 HALFTIME

I can't wait for the second half to start.

In the light of the tragic shooting in Charleston, I for one, find the call to remove the "Flag of the S Southern Cross", the Heritage of "The Stars and Bars", from the South Carolina State Capital Group more than the typically "Too Familiar Knee Jerk Reaction" from those in Government that always pressures of the "Minority Groups", irregardless of the issue. To blame a "Flag" for the "Ideals and one person is to blame the "Gun" for the same reason, or the "Car", or the "Alcohol", or the "Drugs other inanimate object for any problem in life. "When the Real Problem Is Not The Inanimate Object Behavior of The Person/People!". "Hitler is Dead, Nazi Ideals Still Exist"!

The KKK Is Still Around.

Now We Have New Groups, The Neo Nazis, and Skin Heads, and who knows what else!

You can remove the "Flag", but it will not remove the "Hateful Behavior", the same as "Restricting will not resolve the murder issue. Cain murdererd Able with a rock, the weapon of choice in Antiqu developed the club, spears, the bow n arrow, knives, hoes, rakes, etc., etc.etc.!

Hatered motivated Murders are as old as Mankind, and that, Mr. GRAHAM will never change.

Governor Haley,

I find it appalling that you have bowed to the demands of a few and are removing the Confederate flag from the grounds of capital. The display of the flag for the past 15 years is in no way related to the recent murder at the local church. To believe that the confederate flag is a symbol of hate is fueled by ignorance.

The confederate flag is a memorial to the fallen Confederate soldiers. You have dishonored those that died for their all during the war.

What is your next move governor? Maybe hold a book burning on the grounds of the capital and destroy the history that pertains to the civil war or literature that may now offend a group of people regardless of race.

I will make it a point to avoid spending any future vacation time in your state or support any endeavor that is not in the best interest of the state of South Carolina.

I am hopeful that the Sons of Confederate Veterans will prevail in their challenge to the removal of the Confederate flag.

Thank you.

<SUBJECT>A Daughter of Charleston Thanks You</SUBJECT>

<MSG>

Dear Governor Haley,

My name is Janice [REDACTED] I am a daughter of Charleston and a daughter of the South. I grew up in Summerville and Sullivan's Island and my closest family members remain in those places today. For 15 years, I attended Porter-Gaud School on the banks of the Ashley River. After graduating high school, I attended college at The University of the South in Sewanee, Tennessee.

My roots in Charleston and the South are deep and well nourished. As the great-great granddaughter of Alfred Trenholm, Secretary of the Confederacy during the War Between the States, the Confederacy is part of my literal, traceable history. Trenholm, a charismatic businessman and politician, used his diverse business interests to buoy the South in its efforts against the Union. After we lost, he used his resources to rebuild the city of Charleston, decimated during that heartbreaking and historic conflict. He gave his home to the city after the Civil War and today that home is recognized as Ashley Hall School for Girls.

I am proud of my family's history in our Holy City. One of my sons bears the Trenholm name. I have a silver anchor from his ships. I grew up hearing tales of his generosity and courage and charm. Our family has bequeathed more than a few of his belongings to museums in Charleston.

Like many across our nation, my heart is burdened with relentless sorrow since hearing of the carnage at Charleston. Emanuel. I wish to commend our state's leaders for lovingly shepherding South Carolinians and the people of Charleston through this shock and pain. I pray for healing and comfort for all who are suffering.

from Charleston to this tragedy has been extraordinary, of course, exemplary in every way that man doesn't surprise me a bit.

Like you, I know Charleston is special in ways that defy easy definition. My Irish husband's people a "thin place," which is to say a place in this world where the barrier between Heaven and Earth's barely exist and where, just for a blink, we can loose our death grip on life and see the Divine.

I've identified my bloodline and my Southern credibility to you for one reason. We all know that my $3.00 will buy me a cup of nice coffee. I reveal it because I hope it will add perspective to the beating heart of this missive, my prayer to you, really. And that Prayer is this - please do whatever remove the Confederate flag from flying on the grounds of our state government. To think of that flag at Columbia at full mast while my beloved city prepares to bury the bodies of our beautiful brethren, by a lunatic because of the color of their skin, is more than I can bear. I am not alone in this sentiment.

I am proud of my heritage, but I am not proud of the blasphemy under which the Confederate flag was created in 1866 by William T. Thompson. Thompson called it the White Man's Flag and, of it, people we are fighting to maintain the Heaven-ordained supremacy of the white man over the inferior race; a white flag would thus be emblematical of our cause..as a national emblem, it is significant cause, the cause of a superior race, and a higher civilization contending against ignorance, infidelity, barbarism."

From the beginning, the Confederate flag was imbued with a level of racism that is breathtaking in repugnance. Confederate troops fought under it for scant two years. How then has it come to be held in such high regard as a paragon symbol of Southern heritage? A nuanced study of the Civil War - before, during, after - all recognize and be proud of a number of things, but thinking that God ordained the superior white man to rule the inferior black man is NOT one of those things. That my heritage would be reduced to that is unacceptable to me.

It is unacceptable to any right thinking person. Throughout history and into present day, the Confederate flag has been used time and again to foment the worst impulses of humanity.

I did see my heritage in other places this week though. I watched black people look at a white man and forgive him for unpardonable sins. With my particular lineage, it's not a stretch to think that my forefathers have had a hand in burning down Emanuel AME in 1822 after learning the black people there were planning a rebellion. Mother Emanuel forgave us then too; on the firm bedrock of that forgiveness, her pilgrim church is a steeple to the Lord and a church that is vital to all who live in our city today, no matter their shade.

How many times must our black fellows forgive us and call us to real holiness?

Those who think this opinion is some sort of misplaced privileged white guilt on my part miss the point. My identity I share with the parishioners of Mother Emanuel is the heritage that matters to me the most. It is to some embarrassment in formally mentioning it last.

I am Christian; cradle Episcopalian with 16 years of church school education and 48 years of gathered at churches and chapels across the South with fellow sojourners on a path that asks us daily to love God and love our neighbor as ourselves. Centuries ago my black neighbors were used and savaged under the Confederate flag. That particular time and the repulsive idea of white superiority that accompanied it are dead, thank God, but the flag that waves on our government grounds today sends a not-so-subtle message to my brothers and sisters in Christ that we miss the "good old days" of slavery. In 2015, I have no room in our lives or our hearts for giving an ounce of respect to that sort of evil nonsense.

and Sharonda and Myra, take it down. This symbolic act is necessary for all of us who love and enn new South. I believe its reverberations will be felt across race and gender, across states and countri eternity.

When the Confederate flag is removed from our state grounds, Charleston will become even thinn quiet moments, when we become still and calm in our hearts, the veil between worlds will blow as will join hands with our brothers and sisters in Christ and hear our Lord say to each of us, "Well do faithful servant. You have been faithful over a little; I will set you over much. Enter into the joy of

That joy is the work of our South today, the continued work of building a region that is united, not of serving each other with honesty and humility in the name of God.

The same blood that dried on Charleston fields hundreds of years ago and painted the walls in the t Emanuel AME a week ago beats in our hearts today. Black and white, one people: we work togethe together; we laugh together and cry together; we ask that our debts be forgiven even as we forgive owed us; and we join hands across pews and bridges and centuries to discard the old ideas of the pa ourselves to the beautiful hope of today and tomorrow.

May the circle be unbroken by and by.

Yours in Peace,

Hello Governor of South Carolina, please do not remove your flag for two reasons. The first reason is men and a few women died fighting for that flag. They died fighting the North to try and keep the flag. The next reason is guts. People who want the flag down don't have the guts to keep it up there. It does not represent hatred or racism it represents history and sacrifice. Please excuse my word choice but when you remove the flag down needs to grow a set. Now what happened was terrible but it could have happened anywhere in my home town. If it would have been an African American who walked in to a white church and removed the flag. If that was the case would we all remove the American flag. No, we would not remove it because it represents. In conclusion please do not remove your flag.

<SUBJECT>Rebel Flag</SUBJECT>

<MSG>

Dear Governor Haley,

As my representative, I wanted you to know how I stand regarding the "Civil War", the Rebel flag, and control. These topics are again being tossed about as the result of another senseless tragedy, in yet another attempt to get people to make foolish, emotional decisions before logic and reason can be applied. The majority of the people that are so adamant about banning the Rebel flag are as miss-guided and foolish as Donald Trump, a pitiful man who justifies his beliefs based on myths and un-truths.

First of all, there was no "Civil War". Look it up in the dictionary. The CSA did not attempt an overthrow of the federal government. They fought to remove themselves from an oppressive government just as our Revolutionary War soldiers did, to form a more representative confederation. Calling the Confederate War "Civil War" is a means to make the oppressed appear as the oppressor. The Union army, unprovoked, violated, invaded, violated and trashed the South.

And please help stop perpetuating the myth that the "Civil War" was fought to free the slaves. Grant won through the war. Lincoln decided to make freeing the slaves a goal of the war, but until then "Lincoln's mission at the start of the war was to maintain the Union." He repeatedly stated that he had no intention of interfering with the slave institutions of the South. His "free the slaves" campaign was a political ploy to win the war effort he was losing and give his immoral war some moral justification. To say the war was fought to free the slaves is like saying the US fought WWII to free the Jewish people. A worthy outcome, but not the reason the war was started. So you tell me why the southern soldiers fought from April 1861 until January 1865. Here are a couple of "facts" that may interest you:

1. Robert E Lee freed his slaves before the war began; U.S. Grant continued to legally own slaves and

2. The Emancipation Proclamation did not "free the slaves" in the United States, only those slaves Confederate States that were in rebellion.

3. Not all blacks in the South were slaves, and not all slave owners were white. There were black soldiers and there were blacks that fought for the CSA.

The vast majority of soldiers (yes, black and white) in the CSA did not own slaves and did not fight slavery. They fought for the same reasons honorable men always fight, to serve and defend their families, friends, and homes. Their country called and they responded to that call. I submit that the CSA soldiers were more justified in fighting and were more honorable than the Union soldiers. It was the Northern soldiers who were the aggressors and invaders and were not fighting to defend their homes. The "good guys" died. Congressman Gutierrez inappropriately stated recently. The "guys with the most stuff" won, as usual. It is sad that we are still having racial injustice and violence as we do. Maybe it has something to do with the violent way we pretended to abolish slavery in the first place, yet continued segregationist policies in the South for the next 100+ years. It is interesting that we can have racially motivated violence in the West and East and nobody knows why; but when it happens in the South, it's because we display the Rebel flag. It is true that the Rebel flag has been hijacked and denigrated by hate groups and other disreputable groups, but to most in the South it stands for honor and freedom and independence (truly American values). Do not blame the Rebel flag for the racial violence in the South. We have every right to fly the Rebel flag. Black people have the right to display the Pan-African or African-American flags.

And finally, please stop using every tragedy that involves a gun to push for more gun laws. How about the fact that yet another mass killing was perpetrated in a "gun-free zone" as most mass shootings are lately. Maybe you could propose that if we had fewer "gun-free zones", we would have fewer mass shootings. I assure the 'terrorists' that our government spends billions protecting us from would love it if the entire country was a "gun-free" zone. And don't forget, police in the US still kill more 'white' people than 'people of color'. I don't want to try to take away my guns, while the government supplies more assault weapons, rocket launchers, MRAPs and tanks to our local police.

I know you have previously defended our right to fly the Rebel flag, and I thank you. So please continue to protect our right to honor the memory of the soldiers, black and white, who fought for freedom and the Confederacy by displaying the flag that they sacrificed so much to defend. We need factual discussion, not compromise, not hate-filled slogans and demagoguery. The Rebel flag is not about Black against White, it's about honor and pride in Southern values.

Sincerely,

Michael [REDACTED]

<MSG>

I wanted to send you a note in support of your initiative to remove the confederate flag from the state. The confederate flag, also called the "rebel" flag, has been a symbol of man's oppression over other men and women. It is a symbol of oppression to settle here, to celebrate our freedom. Why fly a flag that symbolizes the oppression of other people? Thank you for being a standout governor and working to remove the confederate flag from government buildings. On a side note, why isn't the confederate flag flying at half mast like the State and Federal flags? The confederate flag is being at half mast like the others fly in the face of the families who lost loved ones in that church.

Thank you for taking the time to read this.

Bob

Governor, We have actively supported you for your two terms in office but your call for the removal of the Confederate flag from the state's heritage has deeply devastated many in the state. The flag is not a symbol of hate - it represents the forefathers who died for. SC was the heart of the South and this flag represents this heritage. What happened was a tragedy - regardless of race, religion, location, etc. But this flag did not cause this. Racism did not cause this. Evil caused this.....and when you call for the removal of this flag, you will add more fuel to the fire. We need to protect our damage our state and promote division even more. I pray God will open your eyes. What needs to be done is that all crimes are punished to deter criminals. Now, there is nothing keeping them from crime - they are in a warm place/cool place to stay and food to eat - no bills....If you want to work on something for our state, let's punish criminals and return prayer back in our schools. I am anxious to hear your response.

<SUBJECT>South Carolina Psychiatric Association response to Charleston Mass Shooting</SUBJECT>

<MSG>

Dear Governor Haley,

I am writing as the current President of the South Carolina Psychiatric Association (SCPA) to express appreciation for all that you and your staff have been doing to support the people of Charleston and South Carolina who have been affected by the recent mass shooting. The outpouring of support from across the state and nation will surely help those affected heal more quickly from this terrible trauma. Additionally, we offer to you and your staff the SCPA's expertise in helping people, families, and communities deal with the aftermath of tragedy. We have many resources including informative handouts on trauma and how to talk with those affected. We also have multiple people in Charleston, including Dr. Ed Kantor who is our Disaster Liaison, who are providing support to those affected. We are happy to help in any way with education, outreach or treatment that we can. Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions or with any way we can provide assistance in helping our state and country start to heal.

Thank you for your time,

Rachel A. [REDACTED] M.D., FAPA

nikki, please find some way to avoid going along with those calling for the removal of this flag. I feel it would be an attack on freedom of speech. I was born in 1952 and went to school and cropped tobacco with the negroes. We were never aware that we were anything but of a different color until the government started busing us away from each other. I am aware that some of our human condition is different from others, but no way this will end until the return of Jesus. Just look at the recent events of police shootings, and that followed. There will always be those to jump on an opportunity to be a part of an emotional event and waste our tax dollars and time by being politically correct. I have always admired your individuality and the progress that you have made by that rare quality. I almost feel awkward by saying anything critical so I will just admire. Keep on sticking to your guns and don't get sucked into this craziness about a Southern Baptist. That in itself should show you that this whole issue is based on a group of emotional junkies looking for something to do. Thank you for your work and devotion to South Carolina, and yes, you ARE one

I am extremely disappointed to hear your considering removing the Confederate Flag. The Flag did not kill anyone. If the flag had been removed, it wouldn't have stopped the idiot from killing anyone. The problem is not the flag, it's the hatred. When does it end. There was no flag in Ferguson or Baltimore, but they dare to tear the cities down, with no repercussions. A few weeks ago, a black man killed a white cop. There were no riots or fires. A black man shoots a 5yr black child. No riots or fires. Your caving into the hatred. Punish the haters. Demand we all respect the law and each other. Stop the hatred. The flag is not the problem.

I'm having a hard time today. I've tried to get my wife to vote for years. She won't. And today, I'm time arguing against her case that politicians are just that - politicians. She, like me, understands th flag had nothing to do with Charleston. Nothing to do with the church, "he was just an isolated mo "That's what's so pathetic." Yet, politicians, and I use that term in the most negative light, blame th battle flag as if it had leaped up, poked its chest out and slain the masses. We still know in the Sout heartland that South Carolinians ~ black and white ~ fought to preserve a constitutional United Sta Confederate battle flag represented the last vestige of that constitution as spirited by the Founding | are today hated as leaders equivalent to genuine atrocities such as Hitler. The support you enjoyed not continue into your estimated endeavors to seek higher office. You are now considered with the foreigners such as is now in Washington.

Thank you for your leadership in this time of great tragedy and your strong stance regarding the new Confederate battle flag from the South Carolina State House grounds. It is my hope that your efforts will prompt the General Assembly to position themselves on the right side of history. While I do not live in South Carolina, I have vacationed there and I care deeply about its people, culture, history and traditions. Fly the Confederate battle flag on State House grounds is one tradition whose time has passed.

<MSG>

This week marks the third time our family has chosen to vacation on Hilton Head Island. The recent church shooting in Charleston brought to light the fact that the confederate flag flies on the grounds of the South Carolina State Capitol Building. The display of the flag on government property appears to be an endorsement of a flag that historically has been divisive. We decided on our drive to South Carolina from Tennessee this year we would look for another family vacation spot as long as South Carolina displays the confederate flag on government property. We heard media reports that you would consider removing the flag. As we understand there may be a long process and you may have opposition from supporters of the confederate flag, we want to add our voice to the conversation. We will likely take our tourism dollars to another state if the confederate flag remains in its current location. We think the American flag and the state flag are the best symbols near the State Capitol Building.

Nikki Haley,

I'm not from South Carolina, but I'm a native of North Carolina, though I live in Florida, and my question is, Do you really think that whether or not the Confederate flag is displayed at South Carolina's capitol have made any difference at all in what that boy did when he killed those people in the church???? I'm concerned about "offending" people, now, with the Confederate flag, but millions of us Southerners are offended at you associating the Confederate flag with such a hedonistic act. I live in Florida, surrounded by people from Puerto Rico, who proudly display their Puerto Rican flags, though they live in The States. Many of these people refuse to assimilate, so their flag offends me. Should I rob them of their heritage and so desperately hang onto??? This country now celebrates Cinco De Mayo--spelling?--something that celebrates Mexican independence! Why do Americans celebrate that????? Because Hispanics see it as their "heritage". Native Americans, like yourself, cling to their history, and continue to live on reservations. From everywhere we have people clinging to their culture, whether they are assimilating Americans, or not. But the only people in this country, who are not allowed to cling to their culture and hang onto their flag are Southerners!! I am the governor of, and represent the state of South Carolina. The Confederate flag is part of its history, and it stands for racism, much less killing people, regardless of what that boy did. You don't want the flag because you are South Carolinians???? How about not letting murderous thugs "define" what the Confederate flag stands for? I personally am highly offended by Hollywood and bigots against the South trying to paint the picture of the South as "racist," by association with the Confederate flag. As you can see, from the result of what's happened since the murders, people in South Carolina have come together! Not apart!!! And that's been while their past, and the good things the Confederate flag, and the old South stood for, rather than what the South define it as, because they've never understood it. For many, even to some in Wisconsin talk show--the Confederate flag stands for the rebel spirit. Which is a good thing--independence from overpowering government. You don't have the right, just because you're governor for a short time, Carolinians of their history, and something that has stood before it's capital for so long. As a fellow who's also indirectly affected by what you will do, as all Southerners, everywhere, are, I ask you to and redirect your conversation to not look at the Confederate flag as defined by murderers, but as it represents a past--though flawed--but a past that includes even how South Carolinians have come to this tragedy. Make the Confederate flag mean something more than what political correctness defines the flag that flies over a people that are what they are today--not yesterday. I'm sick and tired of putting everyone else's culture while being robbed of my own!!!!

Blaming the Confederate Flag for idiot behavior is like blaming a gun for shooting someone. Please state your position on this. The Flag doesn't represent slavery or hatred. The flag has historical importance to a lot of people on both sides. The flag represents that people will stand up for what they believe in. Don't give in to the race baiting people who would take away the memories of those who gave their life for what they believed in. It was not the Flag's fault.

The Flag must stay. I am disappointed you are pandering to the liberal left all of a sudden. If you do conservative support say so and you'll be booted out next election. I'll be happy to contribute to son right.

It's tradition and just because some people don't like it is just too bad. Enough political correctness. don't buy it.

That some idiot goes and kills innocent people in church - a disgrace of course. is not an excuse to abandon symbols and turn your back on the people that elected you.

Save the flag!

Governor Haley.

I trust that due respect will continue to be paid to the Confederate Veterans in our SC history and to the Confederate Battle flag under which thousands of South Carolinians fought and died in their pursuit of forming a confederation following the principles under which the founding fathers of our United States established our country. I had three grandfathers who fought for the Confederacy and while it is true that what recently occurred in Charleston in the senseless murder of worshippers in the AME there, it is a tragedy that will witness the pandering, rants and demonstrations of those who are ignorant of Confederate history and heritage, demanding that this beautiful honorable historic flag be removed from its place of honor at the Confederate memorial on the SC state house grounds. My ancestors fought for liberty and freedom against invading Union forces, were wounded, imprisoned and died during the War. These were not slaves; they were not fighting to preserve their plantations, they returned after witnessing the carnage at battles like Manassas and Gettysburg after losing friends and comrades and incurring wounds themselves to protect their homes and families. These Southern heroes were on my mother's side of my family. I have to remind you that I would seek to dishonor their sacrifices that my father's side of the family accrued wealth in the slave economy of Connecticut. My father was a military man and despite his being born and raised in Michigan and I named me after Confederate Generals Stuart and Forrest (and my sister after Lee) because of their valor exhibited on the battlefield, which is still recognized in military studies today. I would encourage you to recognize and appreciate our Southern history and continue to support it in this new attack on our heritage. Hateful misguided people will continue to desecrate the memory of our valiant Confederate veterans.

our forefathers cherished and pursued to diminish the rightful importance of honoring their memor noted that it was observed that the US flag was flying at the home of this murderer but I have not h for its removal from the public square certainly. Please keep the Confederate Battle flag flying in it place of honor and respect deserved of the Confederate veterans who sacrificed their all. I saw today have made a public pronouncement indicating you favor removal of this treasured flag from the St; this disappoints me greatly. This is indicative of you not understanding the true history of this epic the constitutional principles my grandfathers sought to preserve. I beseech you to gain an understa Southern history as it is evident that your being a second generation immigrant, you don't have full and understanding of this critical pivotal event in our nations history. Please retract your position o certainly be forced to endorse any viable Conservative opposition in your bid for reelection as SC ; will do all I can to back a candidate who reveres and respects and honors our Southern heritage and

Sincerely, Stuart [REDACTED]

You nailed it when you said the shooter intended to start a race war but just the opposite was happen. The Confederate flag is a historic symbol but I liked the way you stated that it was part of Carolina's past but not a part of it's future. Thanks for your references to your Christian Faith. <MSG>

Good evening Ms. Haley,

Thank you for your stance and comments today concerning our state display of the confederate flag agreement that we need to reconsider the offensiveness of this historic flag to some of our citizens. I and some folks are not in agreement. The offensiveness is of higher importance than our sometimes perceived. I wish you the best in helping to move the flag to our museums. Elaine (Elaine Gunnells of Bamburgh) visited the Emmanuel AME Church Sunday afternoon. This was a very sobering and emotional experience for us.

Your mother and father moved to this country as did my ancestors for a better life. If I can help you move the state forward, please contact me. Joe [REDACTED] [REDACTED]@earthlink.net. 1.803 [REDACTED]

As in the past, I look forward to greeting your father in the grocery store.

Thank you,

in light of the Charleston shootings -such a tragedy for Charleston and our nation-I notice posting c where the Governor has requested that the Confederate flag will be removed from the state Capitol. the history and historical meaning this flag has for many, however I am outraged that individuals ar wave and carry the Black Liberation flag in protest to the shootings with no discussion of them not so!!! This is reverse bias and should not be tolerated in the interest of fair and just interest! It is obv of late the rights of the few out weigh those of the majority and it is breaking our country! I am a c Republican and will be 67 next month. I have two grandsons-one 2 years and one 9 months and boy fear for their futures! If America is lost where will everyone turn????? A HUGE question-I am an / father was a retired Lt Col and served this country for 23 years and three wars. My mother was a W Captain-during WWII -and got out of service when she married my father in 1947. My love for this knows no boundaries and I pray to our God above for her survival and renewal! Thank you Govern

Dear Gov. Haley,

Normally I don't write these sorts of letters, and I know it is likely that you will never read this letter, but I just wanted to convey my deepest disappointment in your decision to call for the removal of the Confederate Battle Cross from its place flying over the South Carolina capitol.

To us Southerners, that flag represents a history that we still hold dear to us, even though it has been a source of pain many times, it is still a point of fond remembrance to many, including myself.

We all mourn with the families of the Emanuel AME church, and the terrible crime that was done there. However, our freedom is based on personal responsibility, and while the murderer should pay for his crime to the fullest extent of the law for such a deplorable act, it is wrong to punish others for his crime.

By caving to the pressure to remove the flag, you will only breed more resentment and the divide that exists in our state will only grow greater, thus giving the murderer exactly what he wanted.

I hope you, and the rest of the South Carolina government will stand up and do the right thing.

Regards,

Benjamin M. [REDACTED]

Nikki Haley,

I'm not from South Carolina. but I'm a native of North Carolina, though I live in Florida, and my question is, Do you really think that whether or not the Confederate flag is displayed at South Carolina's capitol have made any difference at all in what that boy did when he killed those people in the church???? I'm concerned about "offending" people, now, with the Confederate flag, but millions of us Southerners are offended at you associating the Confederate flag with such a hedonistic act. I live in Florida, surrounded by people from Puerto Rico, who proudly display their Puerto Rican flags, though they live in The States. Many of these people refuse to assimilate, so their flag offends me. Should I rob them of their heritage so desperately hang onto??? This country now celebrates Cinco De Mayo--spelling?--something that is Mexican independence! Why do Americans celebrate that????? Because Hispanics see it as their "heritage". Native Americans, like yourself, cling to their history, and continue to live on reservations. From everywhere we have people clinging to their culture, whether they are assimilating Americans, or not. But the country that this country, who are not allowed to cling to their culture and hang onto their flag are Southerners!!! I am the governor of, and represent the state of South Carolina. The Confederate flag is part of it's history, and it stands for racism, much less killing people, regardless of what that boy did. You don't want the flag taken down, South Carolinians???? How about not letting murderous thugs "define" what the Confederate flag stands for? I personally am highly offended by Hollywood and bigots against the South trying to paint the picture of the South as "racist," by association with the Confederate flag. As you can see, from the result of what happened since the murders, people in South Carolina have come together! Not apart!!! And that's been while their past, and the good things the Confederate flag, and the old South stood for, rather than what the South define it as, because they've never understood it. For many, even to some in Wisconsin talk show--the Confederate flag stands for the rebel spirit. Which is a good thing--independence from overpowering government. You don't have the right, just because you're governor for a short time. South Carolinians of their history, and something that has stood before it's capital for so long. As a fellow who's also indirectly affected by what you will do, as all Southerners, everywhere, are, I ask you to and redirect your conversation to not look at the Confederate flag as defined by murderers, but as it represents a past--though flawed--but a past that includes even how South Carolinians have come to this tragedy. Make the Confederate flag mean something more than what political correctness defines the flag that flies over a people that are what they are today--not yesterday. I'm sick and tired of putting everyone else's culture while being robbed of my own!!!!
