

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Message threads

Record ID: 20160621unknownMessage-threads52748_t_10154330201959468

Sarah, Thank you for sharing your concerns in regards to the price increase at Sesquicentennial State Park. The South Carolina State parks have been challenged to reach 100% self-sufficiency. Because of this, some of our busier Inland parks have increased the rates to match that of our coastal parks. If you are a regular to the park, we highly recommend the purchase an Inland Park Passport. This $50 park pass provides access into every state park except Hunting Island, Huntington Beach, Edisto Beach, Myrtle Beach and Charles Towne Landing. Park passports cover the admission for your entire vehicle for a year from the date of purchase. Please know that it is certainly not our intent to cause a financial burden on any of our park patrons.

Participants: Sara Hummel Rajca, South Carolina State Parks
at 14:24:14 on 6/21/2016 UTC

Sara Hummel Rajca

at 18:05:24 on 6/19/2016 UTC

I agree with a comment someone else had that the price hike is disappointing. It was $4 for my family to hike and go up the playground, but now it's $10. We won't be going to sesqui anymore unless it's to go to the splashpad, we will look for free options. Perhaps it will be reduced in the winter since the splashpad isn't an option?

South Carolina State Parks

at 14:24:14 on 6/21/2016 UTC

Sarah,
Thank you for sharing your concerns in regards to the price increase at Sesquicentennial State Park. The South Carolina State parks have been challenged to reach 100% self-sufficiency. Because of this, some of our busier Inland parks have increased the rates to match that of our coastal parks. If you are a regular to the park, we highly recommend the purchase an Inland Park Passport. This $50 park pass provides access into every state park except Hunting Island, Huntington Beach, Edisto Beach, Myrtle Beach and Charles Towne Landing. Park passports cover the admission for your entire vehicle for a year from the date of purchase. Please know that it is certainly not our intent to cause a financial burden on any of our park patrons.