at 13:39:57 on 7/09/2010 UTC

Margrette Love When its too hot to actually get in a tent and sleep without sticking to everything, its too hot to camp!

Jennifer Smith Haig Nope cause the AC in our camper is better than that in our house. We have reservations for Santee this weekend but due to the death of a close family friend we will be unable to make it :(

Kyle Rogers Hot days are perfect for a dip in a cool creek.

Nancy Golini Bilton Camped in Santee last week and the weather was perfect and even got chilly in the evenings. AC in the camper and a pool is all ya need for hot weather!

Donald Morgan Most certainly it can be too hot to camp. When the humidity and temperature are around 100 at midnight, you might as well just stay up and play cards.

Helen Fischer Yes!

Laura Kirk I haven't been camping when it was too hot BUT I have been when it was a wee bit too cold. I woke up to icicles hanging on the inside of my tent thanks to the condensation from my breath freezing! Brrrr!
