I've floated that here and we're still debating whether that's "private enough." The answer may well be her and a pure private-sector HR person. I'll get back to you on that question. Thanks.

Santee Cooper's HR person is really good, Laura Varn, would that work? We try to run HR like private sector. I will ask my employment lawyers who else they like.

Thanks – I'll look into those. The critical piece we're still missing is a good corporate HR person...someone who can bring a private-sector perspective.

Great, he is perfect, let me know the type of person you are looking for and I can put some thought into it. How about former public officials like Joe Taylor? Or like Greg Pearce, sitting member of Richland County Council, smart ethical guy.

We just got word from Jim Harrison this morning that he would be willing to participate – thanks for the suggestion. I worked with him on DOA and obviously Swati knows him well, so I think he'll be a good fit.

Still working on filling the last seat or two...on target for a mid-May organizational meeting.

Another loose end...I have my Liberty Fellowship interview next Monday. Thanks.

How about Jim Harrison, former rep, chair of House Judiciary? Ted knows him. Also, Joe Anderson, former SC CEO of BellSouth/ATT, great reputation.
