My husband was killed in Georgia by a tire that flew off of a yacht trailer a year ago.

Aside from carnage - I separately hired two contractors recently - both had cargo trailers full of tools stolen - once lost two trailers - lax registration laws allow this.

It is important because no one should die from a trailer that is not secured properly!

I use a utility trailer often and I have safety chains, LED lights, as well as reflective tape all around and think all trailers should be this way!
