Dear Mr Tony Kester,

Ensure compliance and overcome common governing pitfalls through informed guidance by industry expert John Johnston, who will be providing exclusive updates on MHRA regulation at SMI's 8th annual RNA Therapeutics show.

The established event set to take place on 22nd & 23rd February in Central London, promises to deliver a scientific toolkit of ideas to implement targeted delivery. The agenda for 2017 features not only the latest scientific research, but will also include a selection of hand-picked industry case studies from those driving medical progress.

John Johnston is respected for his expertise in clinical and metabolic medicine and often writes about European pharmaceutical regulation. His most recent publications include articles on highly personalised medicines and custom-made anti-sense oligonucleotide medicinal products. With almost a decade's worth of experience in the role, John is currently working as a clinical assessor at the Medicines & Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA).

As well as providing an overview in current legislation's, his presentation will offer essential guidelines on reporting clinical data and best practice on interacting with regulators.
