South Carolina State Parks

at 17:42:34 on 9/28/2009 UTC

Just a few miles down the road from Oconee you will find a great waterfall for fall color viewing, Issaqueena Falls. Its only a short walk to the viewing platform, and the view is great when color surrounds the waterfall. Not only is the view spectacular, but the story behind the falls is just as interesting. This is not a state park property, but a nice stop between Oconee and Oconee Station.

Gloria Oneppo Kennedy Fleck If you want to see the most awesome color come on up to New England. Because we had 2 months of rain this summer, the foliage will be spectacular. Prices are good and you cannot get a bad meal in RI. Colors peaking in northern N.E. know and mid October in southern N.E.

Ginger Johnson Sottile Can you make RI a little closer as in within a 4 hour drive like in the beautiful state of SC?

Polly McAbee McGee New England is beautiful in the fall, but no more than our SC mountains, waterfalls, and lakes year round! We just don't have the maple syrup.

Judy Cannon Goff Well said Polly. I am sure RI is beautiful (I've never been there but hope to visit one day) and perhaps has its own page on Facebook. This is the visionary SC State Park Service Facebook page celebrating the awesome natural beauty of South Carolina. Visit the SC State Parks. Our patronage helps maintain the parks for future generations.
