

Simplifying HR Benefiting Business

November 13, 2015

The Honorable Nikki R. Haley
Office of the Governor
1205 Pendleton Street
Columbia, SC 29201

Dear Governor Haley:

I hope this letter finds you well. Earlier this year, I was appointed by your office to serve on the Department of Consumer Affairs Committee. However, due to a potential conflict of interest with QBS being a PEO, a fact discovered after the senate approval process, it was determined that I needed to be reassigned. Currently, I am still awaiting a new assignment.

I am writing to express that I am still very interested in helping to serve both our state and its business community. In speaking with Katie Philpott, she had mentioned that there might be seats opening up on the Workers' Compensation Commission. I am confident that I could add a great deal of value in this area based on my organization's extensive, large-scale experience dealing with this issue in terms of volume.

In fact, my organization, Quality Business Solutions, Inc. (QBS) was recently named to the Inc. 5000 and I was named as the No. 3 Female Entrepreneur in America by Inc. Magazine. This recognition, along with some other state-wide honors (detailed in the attached press release), have really re-energized me and my desire to be involved on the civic level.

Our state is a wonderful place for business and I believe I can provide insight to make it even stronger. I look forward to hearing from you soon about a new placement.

Sincerely,

(TRAVELERS REST, SC) Pamela Evette, the president and CEO of Quality Business Solutions, Inc. (QBS), a woman-owned outsourced solution for payroll, human resources and benefits was ranked third among the Top 50 Women Entrepreneurs in America – known as the Impact 50 – by Inc. Magazine. The Impact 50 are the leaders of the 50 fastest-growing women-run businesses among the Inc. 5000 rankings of revenue growth.

Founded in 2000, QBS delivers customized human resources and back office solutions to a diverse national group of small and medium-sized business clients. The company has experienced revenue growth of nearly $300 million over the past three years, making it a nearly $1 billion dollar enterprise. QBS attributes its exponential growth to the demand for business process outsourcing services aimed at the booming small and medium-sized business market, but, more importantly, to its dedication to providing customers with strategy and counsel rather than simply tactical solutions and output.

“This extremely prestigious award, which is based on growth and vision, is a testament to the fact that QBS fills a clear void in the market by not just doing the work clients ask us to do, but providing options for better ways of doing business,” said Evette. “The business landscape is more complex than ever before, and while companies of all shapes and sizes want to minimize costs and achieve greater operational efficiencies, many are not aware of the wide range of solutions and tools available to help them reach their goals. While I am truly honored to stand among this incredibly talented group of women, I am even more proud of the work we do each day and the strong working partnerships we have formed with our clients to build this business and sustain this level of exponential growth.”

The Impact 50 award is the latest in a series of recent honors for the company, including being named to the Inc. 5000, and being recognized as one of the Best Places to Work and the 40 Best-Performing Companies in its home state of South Carolina.

Evette is scheduled to attend a luncheon honoring the Impact 50 on October 23rd during the Inc. 5000 Conference and Awards Ceremony in Orlando, FL. To see the full list of Impact 50 honorees, visit: <http://www.inc.com/magazine/201510/ss/inc-staff/impact-50.html>
