The Honorable Governor of South Carolina
Nikki Haley
Office of the Governor
1205 Pendleton Street
Columbia, South Carolina 29201

Dear Governor Haley,

I would like to ask you a question about a request madam. I am looking to put together a cultural significant ceremony regarding a cypress tree (taxodium distichum), and the Native American ceremony of using the tree itself to make a canoe for trade with the Charleston area outside of the traditional Indian Factory's that were established by the colonial traders within the requirements of the Indian Commission of the Province of Carolina. I know that this endeavor eventually became the provincial government of the Province of South Carolina when the Indian Commission of South Carolina was disbanded in the early 1700's. It would be a "Great Day in South Carolina!" if we could come to an ability to access the tree and venue to host the event, and I am sure that I can find numerous archeologists, anthropologists, and even a wily historian or two to help in the endeavor. I assure you madam, that the Native Americans in the area of the lowcountry are willing to make the attempt to create this event. Would you be able to provide these things for the cultural experience of the Native Americans of the South Carolina lowcountry that the state has already recognized as such?

I would like to receive your blessing in the matter before venturing into the federal arena of access to the Department of the Interior (DOI), and the US Forestry Service (FS). The federal arena is a dastardly affair, and approach is near impossible without the Great State of South Carolina's blessing from its honorable position of the South Carolina Governor's mansion. I implore you madam, to help me in this endeavor for the cultural significance of the Native Americans in the lowcountry, as documented by John Lawson (KB) regarding the Santee (Santé) Indian Tribe of South Carolina, which is documented throughout the United States of America (USA) and the United Kingdom.

Madam, I hope that you have a lovely week, and look forward to the response. I have carbon copied my elected congressional affiliation at the USA level. Guv'nor, I silently remain at your disposal in the matter, and anxiously await your grace! I cannot believe that it has been since 2011-2012 since I last saw you speak at an event. It was a town hall meeting, and I think that your speech was a good one! I hope to be able to finish this great endeavor with the historical information that I just received from Barbados as well.

I cannot wait to see the cherry blossoms in Washington DC once more. I look forward to the new opening of the Trump Hotel in the old post office of Washington DC!

Sincerely,
