Description/Significant Features: Symmetrical, five-bay facade. Center bay contains glass front door surrounded by sidelights and transom and pair of one-over-one double hung sash windows. Flanking bays contain four-light vertical windows that stretch from first to second story. Exterior bays contain one-over-one double hung sash windows. Windows and doors on front elevation slightly recessed. One-over-one double hung sash windows found throughout, one exterior and one interior brick chimneys on rear elevation. Appears the rear portion of the first floor contains the city jail, as the windows have metal bars and the interior doors have bars. The exterior door on the rear elevation is metal with small door to allow guard to look outside.

Alterations (include date(s), if known) Front door does not appear to be original.

Architect(s)/Builder(s): J. Peary Wilson
