OK, so I can say a spokesman for the governor said that?

On background:

If a state chooses not to participate in the Refugee Resettlement Program, the federal government can still locate refugees in that state.

Chaney,

I don't see anything in the letter that makes it clear that that the governor didn't have any choice in whether refugees are allowed to come to South Carolina or not. Can you give me a statement that would make the situation clear as you described to me on the phone?

Ron
